Senators Will Test Labor Bill Veto, Filibuster at End

Vote Scheduled for Monday Session Debate Is Longest in Twenty Years

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP).—A filibuster by foes of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill cracked late today and Republicans won an agreement for a Senate vote Monday on their own terms.

They confidently predicted it will enact the measure into law over President Truman's veto by the required two-thirds majority and three or four votes to spare. Opponents of the bill conceded their chances as slim for stopping it.

The voting agreement was reached after 28½ hours of a marathon session by consent of all present. But the debate then went on, although only five Senators remained on the floor with Senators Murray (D., Mont.) and Olin Johnston (D., S.C.) speaking against the bill.

Finally, after 30 hours and 52 minutes—the longest session in 20 years—the Senate recessed until 1 a.m. (E.S.T.) Monday. Then the debate will start again until the hour of the vote, 2 p.m. (E.S.T.).

From outside the Chamber, Rep. Hartley (R., N.J.), co-author of the bill with Senator Taft (R., Ohio), issued a scorching answer to the Presidential veto and broadcast. Hartley called Mr. Truman's arguments "false." He said some language the President attacked is not in the bill at all in its final form. He accused the President of sponsoring "misrepresentations, half truths and distortions."

Mr. Truman himself gave no sign that he plans any further fight to prevent passage of the bill following his busy Friday when he sent his veto message to a heedless House, called in a dozen Senators for a luncheon conference, and took his arguments to the nation by radio.

The Monday vote will find two Senators absent who could be counted on to support the veto, Senator Wagner (D., N.Y.), father the 1935 Labor Relations Act which the bill would change, is ill in New York. Senator Elbert Thomas (D., Utah) is in Geneva as a delegate to the International Trade Organization and said today he will not be here.

Taft, smiling confidently, predicted that the veto will be overridden "by three or four votes." This was the margin forecast by other supporters of the bill, too.

Mobs Riot In Punjab 16 Deaths

Vote on Partition Begins Tomorrow

NEW DELHI, June 22 (Sunday) (AP).—Rioting mobs killed at least 16 persons and set fires that cast a smoke pall over Lahore Saturday as legislators from all parts of Punjab Province poured into the capital city to vote on partition.

The new outbreaks in the Punjab, along with rioting near Lucknow in the United Provinces, brought to 71 the death toll in two days of communal rioting in India.

The legislators attended meetings of the Moslem League, Sikh and Congress parties prior to Monday's session of the Assembly, when they were expected to decide to split the province into sections which will join Hindustan and Pakistan, the separate Hindu and Moslem states to be created in India.

Friday the Bengal Provincial Legislature voted for partition. The situation in the Punjab is complicated by a Sikh minority which is making militant demands for a homeland of its own.

The legislative actions constitute the first preliminaries under the plan of Viceroy Lord Mountbatten for setting up the two separate states, which are scheduled to become Commonwealth Dominions about August 15.

Crop Pests Face Losing Battle With Helicopter

Workmen are shown here loading agricultural dust into one of the specially-built crop-dusting helicopters which will be used in the ceaseless fight against crop pests. Deliveries of this new weapon have already been made in Canada, the United States, Argentina and Sweden. Electrically operated dust gates are controlled from cockpit while the helicopter is in flight. Ejector tube through which dust is applied with air from engine fan is clearly visible at bottom of hopper.

The new agricultural helicopter, which utilizes the downwash of its rapidly-whirling main rotor blades to swirl DDT-laden dust onto the underside of the foliage, favorite haunt of crop-devouring insects, will be used in the fight against crop pests. This helicopter also can be used to curb plant disease and weeds, apply fertilizer and seed, pollenize orchards and blow moisture from rain-laden fruits. As illustrated in the picture, it can cover a 60-foot swath in one pass, dust between 100 and 200 acres an hour.

United or Split Europe; Decision Facing Stalin

Britain and France Await Russia's Reply To Bid to Join Plan to Aid Nations

LONDON, June 21 (AP).—This week-end may bring one of the decisive moments in Europe's tangled history—and the decision lies in the mind of Prime Minister Stalin.

His problem: Shall Russia join Britain and France in planning an economic "one world" for Europe, perhaps at the cost of a slipping Red grip on Middle-European Governments, or shall she cast aside the chance to unite Europe and go her own way in her own politico-economic sphere in the East?

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, practiced in grasping the "breaks" of trade-union warfare, snatched at United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall's skeletonized offer of June 5 to help rebuild Europe.

Hastily he called on French Premier Paul Ramadier and French Foreign Minister George Bidault. In two days—in Paris last Tuesday and Wednesday—this potent European trio dispatched to Russia a call to join them—and to decide by next Monday whether the Soviet Union will come in.

Russia's officially inspired Communist newspaper Pravda greeted Marshall's plan with a single blast and then relapsed into silence. Now the Russian news agency Tass announces that the Government is "considering" the matter.

The Russians undoubtedly are on a spot. They must decide quickly on a course as momentous to them as it will be to the rest of Europe.

Stalin's dilemma is both economic and political.

He needs machinery that he could get with dollars accruing from joining the plan. If he rejects it, he gets no share of the dollars and virtually no hope of promoting a dollar loan of his own and Europe's Communist parties, bidding for popular support on their ability to restore torn economies, lose face, for the aid will not bear the red mark.

If he accepts, he also must accept the political fact that the plan will tend to hold back the spread of Communism.

The decision, which must come by Monday night, is one for a single Europe, virtually on Anglo-French terms, or two Europes, with Stalin running his part of it by himself.

Queen, Princesses In World News

LONDON, June 21 (CP).—Queen Elizabeth and the two Princesses soon may have their own press officer—probably a woman. Reporters here have found it increasingly difficult to get stories about the Royal ladies—although interest in them has increased all over the world. The London Women's Press Club has written asking for the appointment of a woman press officer.

U.S. Army To Spend New Cash

Austrian Money Is to Be Used

VIENNA, Austria, June 21 (AP).—Austria, under pressure by Communists to revise her Government along the lines of the Hungarian coup, was given an economic boost by the United States Army today which announced its 15,000 occupation troops would in effect become tourists so far as spending power is concerned.

A new plan, the army announced, calls for the army to purchase Austrian schillings from the Austrian Government with dollars to cover occupation costs beginning July 1. The program is expected to give Austria about $20,000,000 a year in dollar currency for foreign exchange.

Heretofore the Austrian Government has been paying out about 15 per cent of its annual budget to pay the occupation costs of four armies, American, Russian, British and French. The United States Army has been receiving less than one-fourth of this amount which has been described as a heavy drain on the Austrian economy.

Mississippi Crest Lowered

HANNIBAL, Mo., June 21 (AP).—The flood situation along the rampant Mississippi eased today as the river began receding slightly after cresting below last week's record heights.

22 Trapped In Blizzard, Three Dead

Lost 27 Hours In High Pass

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo., June 21 (AP).—Three persons died, and 19 others were in critical condition tonight after being trapped for 27 hours in a blizzard on a 1,000-foot pass 35 miles west of Red Lodge, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Chamberland, of Tacoma, Wash., said a freak snow storm stalled a car on the high pass, and caused several other cars to be caught in a blizzard that buried the automobiles under several feet of snow.

The three dead highway workers were believed to have been asphyxiated in the truck as they tried to make it down the mountain road to call help, Chamberland said.

Sheriff Swan Olson of Livingston, Mont., said a posse was being organized to search for other persons feared missing in the storm, which was continuing tonight.

Olson said rescuers found one car in which only a shivering dog remained, and they feared the vehicle's occupants were lost in an attempt to walk back to safety.

At Red Lodge, Sheriff Robert Cunningham said 22 persons were rescued early this morning from the east side of Cooke pass, after being trapped by deep snow. All were reported in good condition.

Attlee Attacks Red Policy In Affairs of Europeans

BARNSLEY, England, June 21 (AP).—Prime Minister Attlee picked what may be one of the decisive weekends in modern European history—when Generalissimo Stalin may decide to embrace or spurn the Marshall plan—to denounce today totalitarian trends along the Red fringe of the Continent.

In a speech to Yorkshire coal miners Attlee declared that in several countries of Eastern Europe "human rights are denied and so-called Democratic government is a travesty."

Pressing Britain's bid for leadership in rebuilding European prosperity and democracy, he gave this as the guiding philosophy behind his country's foreign policy:

"Wherever you find the right of opposition denied, wherever you find such devices as the single list of candidates, wherever you find a government that cannot be removed by the method of the ballot box, there is no true democracy, there is no true freedom," he answered.

"Our foreign policy is based on these principles: We hold that every people has the right to choose its government, whether it be conservative, Liberal, Socialist or Communist."

He expressed concern that "there should be in this country, and people who profess to be Socialists, who appear to condone things that are done by governments that call themselves left, when they would protest vigorously if precisely the same things were done by governments of the right."

His speech marked the second time in three days that high British officials have denounced the Communist policies in Eastern Europe. On Thursday Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin asserted in a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons that dictators would ultimately fail in attempts to "suppress liberty in the world."

It was the Socialist Premier's most pointed anti-Russian statement since he told the Trades Union Congress last Winter that the Soviet Government was building a "wall of ignorance" between the Russian people and the West.

Observers wondered whether Britain was indirectly serving notice on Russia that State Secretary Marshall's aid-for-Europe proposals strengthened Britain's hand in international affairs.

Italians See East-West War Inevitable, Soon

ROME, June 21 (AP).—In Italy, as in much of the world, leaders and the people are trying to decide whether to lay their bets on Washington or Moscow.

Based on reality or not, the conviction is common among Italians that war between East and West is not only inevitable but also not so distant.

They gloomily predict that in any such conflict Italy would be in the middle. To many, the growing cleavage between Communist and anti-Communist forces in their own country is an integral part of a fateful world pattern which promises little hope for real peace.

Italians watch the consolidation of Soviet dominance in the Balkans with an eye to the Western powers' capacity to react. Events in this area are of vital interest to Italy. Before the war, the Balkan countries were among her best customers. Access to those markets today could mean much for Italian recovery.

Soviet influence in the Balkans laps at Italy's frontiers at an uncommonly sensitive point—Trieste. Italians recognize that Russia's recent gains in consolidating her position in Hungary and Bulgaria may increase Slav pressure against the Trieste Free State—the delicate membrane the peacemakers have designed to separate East and West along the Italian-Yugoslav border.

To Premier Alcide De Gasperi, now committed to the tricky task of trying to govern without the Communists and Socialists, American aid is the key to Italian recovery and the success of his program. Luigi Einaudi, his Minister of the Budget, estimates Italy will need $600,000,000 annually for the next five years from the United States.

Four Drown In Car Plunge

SUPERIOR, Mont., June 21 (AP).—Swift current hampered rescue workers late today in their search for four persons, believed drowned when their automobile plunged 150 feet into the swollen Clark Fork of the Columbia River near the Montana-Idaho border yesterday.

County sheriff's officers and state highway patrolmen plan to block off United States Highway Ten tomorrow to allow a heavy wrecker to pull a large grappling hook through the deep mountain river in an effort to find the car.

Police identified the missing as Harold White, Walla Walla, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gable, Smelterville, Idaho, and Mrs. Elsie Silva, Denver.

Boy in Hospital After Accident

Ten-year-old Ronnie Butcher, 241 Howe Street, was taken to the Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering from "severe abdominal injuries" following an accident yesterday afternoon, city police reported.

Hospital officials said late last night that his condition was grave.

According to police, the boy was injured when his bicycle was in collision with an automobile which they said was driven by Robert Wilfred Pearson, 609 Superior Street, at the intersection of Pandora and Stanley Avenues.

Inspector Harry Mercer of the city police last night asked any witnesses of the accident to contact him.

The boy was given first aid by Dr. Thomas Watson and was taken to hospital by police.

Former Russian Prince Arrested

TORONTO, June 21 (CP). — Constantine Michael Nakashidze, a 46-year-old former Russian prince, was arrested at his daughter's wedding reception here today. He was charged with stealing $24,000 from a Toronto plastics company of which he is a director.

Churchill Said It But Few Heard

LONDON, June 21 (CP). — The Very Rev. Dr. Hewlett, Dean of Canterbury, today let out a little sidelight on Winston Churchill's "we will fight on the beaches" radio broadcast after the Battle of Dunkerque.

The dean said that after promising that Britons would fight on the beaches, Mr. Churchill put his hand over the microphone and added:

"And we will hit them over the heads with beer bottles, which is all we have really got."

Contract Talks Open Monday

PORT ALBERNI, June 21 (CP).—Loggers at two camps in this area on Vancouver Island, are reported to have remained away from work today. The camps were the Alberni Pacific Logging Company's Camp One, and the Bloedel, Stewart & Welsh Company's Camp Eight.

The 1946 agreement between lumber operators and the international Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.), which provided that loggers work a 48-hour week during the Summer months, expired yesterday.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver, Harold Pritchett, I.W.A. district president, announced today that negotiations with operators' representatives on terms of a 1947 contract will be resumed Monday evening.

Pritchett said that the operators' representatives will be told at that meeting the result of a union ballot asking loggers if they favored accepting an operators' offer of a 10 per cent wage increase.

The ballot also asked the union members if they would authorize their policy committee to take strike action if negotiations on a new agreement broke down.

Gestapo Killers To Stand Trial

LONDON, June 21 (CP).—The War Office announced today that 17 members of the German Gestapo will be tried in Hamburg for complicity in the murder of escaping Allied officer prisoners of war. Six of their victims were Canadians.

The 17 to be tried by a British military court are charged with complicity in the killing of 12 of the 50 victims. Max Wielen, former head of the criminal police in the Breslau area also will be tried as 29 of the officers were killed in his district.

The case against the Gestapo men is that they were "concerned" in the killing of 12 officers, shot in six West-German localities.

The accused include Gestapo headquarters chiefs in the six localities and members of special squads, allegedly formed on top orders from Berlin to carry out the killings.

The War Office statement said evidence would be produced at the trial to show that the decision to shoot 50 of the escaped officers was taken at a conference at Hitler's headquarters.

Three of the top Nazi war criminals condemned at Nuernberg were charged, among other offences, with responsibility for this decision. They were Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Luftwaffe commander and successor-designate to Hitler; Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, and Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the Reich Security Police.

The prosecution will say that the names of the officers were passed on to the Gestapo and the civilian police, and that the selection of those killed was made in Berlin.

The bodies later were cremated and reports were entered that the officers had been shot trying to escape.

Teams of investigators pursued clues throughout Germany, France, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland, interrogating hundreds and then combing out Gestapo suspects for the agents now accused.

Will Enquire Into Fatality

Inquest into the death of George Boulton, 3241 Irma Street, will be held at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home on Tuesday at 10 a.m., it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Boulton was fatally injured shortly after 8 p.m. on Friday when the autocycle he was riding was in collision with an automobile, said by police to have been driven by Keith H. Dillabough, 1031 Carberry Gardens. The accident occurred at the intersection of Tennyson Avenue and Ardersier Road, Saanich police stated.

Fire Threatens Alaska Village

ANCHORAGE, June 21 (AP).—Fanned by high northeast winds, a raging forest fire on the Kenai Peninsula swept tonight toward the fishing village of Kenai on the east side of Cook Inlet.

R. R. Robinson, chief of the Alaska Fire Control Service, reported the 400 inhabitants were in no immediate danger but might be imperilled unless the blaze was checked.

Wage Increase Ensures Peace

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21 (AP).—West Coast shipowners granted a 5 per cent basic wage increase to four sea-faring unions today, including two which previously had signed for no more pay. Thus West Coast Maritime peace was achieved for a full year.

The C.I.O. cooks-stewards and the C.I.O. radio operators (A.C.A.) signed up with the Pacific American Shipowners Association, getting the increase and nine paid holidays a year won the East Coast by a brief strike.

Then employers re-opened the recently signed contracts with C.I.O. marine engineers and the independent firemen, to include these also in the 5 per cent wage increase and 9-holiday plan. The C.I.O. longshoremen had not asked a pay increase this year, and will not be included in the increase.

The contracts will run to June 15, 1948. They are expected to be ratified promptly by union memberships in week-end voting.

Nathan P. Feinsinger, special conciliator for the United States Department of Labor, announced "complete settlement" this afternoon.

Spokesmen for waterfront employers and shipowners expressed confidence that all strike hazards have been removed for the year to come.

Three Injured By Tornado

LOOMIS, Neb., June 21 (AP).—A tornado struck a farm place west of Loomis tonight, demolishing all the farm buildings and injuring at least three persons. The injured were identified as Mrs. Paul Steele and her two children, Gary and Donna. A filling station in Loomis also was demolished by the windstorm.

Dominion House Entering Last Lap Of Session as Heavy Debates Loom

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP).—Busy and important days of debate loom ahead as Parliament enters the last three to five weeks of this third session of the present House.

In one day last week, the Government pitched three important items into the Commons' legislative machinery and one already has developed into a major debate that still hasn't finished. That was the bill to increase old age pensions by $5 to $30 a month.

Still to come into the hard light of criticism are bills to enact a new labor code and one to establish a coal board. With them, too, is one to establish a maritime commission.

A debate on Dominion-Provincial relations could easily grow out of the forthcoming bill to give a legislative basis to taxation agreements with seven of the nine Provinces.

One Government supporter predicted that this would touch off "a hot and heady" discussion because, for the first time this session, it will lay wide open the whole subject of relations with the Provinces.

Despite the severity of the criticism of the Pensions Bill, including some from Liberal ranks, it is not expected to become the medium for any vote of embarrassing proportions to the Government. Critics are faced with the fact that although it is what they call "inadequate," it is a small loaf and thus better than none.

The new labor code is due for reference to the industrial relations committee after the House has had its vocal crack at it.

It is considered doubtful that the code will get through the committee stage at the present session. But labor critics, notably the Canadian Congress of Labor, may have their chance to go to work on it before the recess and, if so, are expected to hammer at its failure to embrace home workmen, such as employees of national packing-houses and the like who now come under provincial jurisdiction, as well as at its ruling that there is to be no strike vote until 16 days after a conciliation board has reported.

This latter provision would give what Labor Minister Mitchell estimated as an average 60 days' cooling-off period, which the C.C.L. argues is "ridiculous" and would strengthen the hand of the employer.

There is a lot of conjecture over when the House will rise. It can be reported that there is a refreshing tendency to contain virtually all prophecies within July.

Hungary Charges Nagy Chief in Plot With U.S.

BUDAPEST, June 21 (AP).—A "white paper" compiled by the Hungarian Communist Party said tonight that former Premier Ferenc Nagy, through his connections with prominent Americans, "tried to make Hungary the Southeastern European economic and political base of the United States."

The white paper, dealing with the plot which the Communists said Nagy hatched against the Hungarian Government, was advertised by Communists as being full of details of "crimes" committed by various persons—including Nagy—who were involved in a conspiracy against democracy.

Although it makes no charges of a sensational nature, it is full of hints regarding a number of persons, including former U.S. Minister H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld; Laslo Eker-Racz, former economics expert of the U.S. Legation here; Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Rep. Sol Bloom (D., N.Y.), former chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The paper says that Nagy, who resigned his premiership June 1, maintained a double policy of working secretly against the Communists and Russia, while openly declaring friendship and co-operation.

It charges frequently that when Nagy considered future action, he based all his plans on ratification of the Hungarian peace treaty and the departure of Russian troops, an attitude considered by the Communists to be antagonistic.

Medical and Dental Officers In Services Get Higher Pay

(Special to The Daily Colonist)

OTTAWA, June 21.—An order in council has been approved granting higher pay for medical and dental officers of the Canadian armed forces, National Defence Minister Brooke Claxton announced tonight. The increase is in the form of a "responsibility allowance" of $60 per month.

"The new allowance," he said, "is designed to attract more young medical and dental graduates to the services. It will be applicable to all such officers up to and including the rank of surgeon-captain in the navy and equivalent rank in the other two services: colonel in the army and group captain in the air force."

The policy of the armed forces now, the minister added, is to grant the initial rank of surgeon lieutenant, captain or flight lieutenant, as the case may be, to all medical and dental officers on first appointment. The only stipulation is that they must be licensed practitioners in any of the provinces of Canada, with at least one year's post-graduate experience.

"The new allowance," Mr. Claxton stated, "will largely offset the heavy costs of education the student of medicine and dentistry has incurred while earning his degree. It is hoped that more young men in these two professional fields will now consider a career in the armed forces as being at least equally attractive and offering as much scope for their talents and abilities as civilian practice."

Medical branches of the three services and the Royal Canadian Dental Corps have prepared material outlining qualifications for entry, pension pay for rank and other allowances, leave periods, training, and opportunities for post-graduate studies.

Past President Addresses Final Banquet

Preservation of the North American way of life was urged before more than 1,200 delegates to the annual convention of District 19, Lions International, by Past International President Frank Birch at a banquet last night in the Bay Street Armoury.

The banquet and governor's ball concluded the four-day convention.

"We must maintain world leadership, and in this regard Lionism can do much to lead the way," Mr. Birch stated.

As a defence in the future, the two great nations should keep their armed forces from deteriorating to help protect themselves against "any eventuality," he said.

Mr. Birch reviewed the growth of Lionism during the past decade, and noted that the organization had grown from 92,000 members in 2,850 clubs in 1937 to 330,000 members in 6,500 clubs today.

Earlier, Henry Backstrom, of Arlington, Washington, was elected executive governor of District 19, Lions International, at a general election meeting at the Club Sirocco.

Mr. Backstrom succeeds Jack Peddycord, of Bellingham.

Virgil A. Warren, Spokane, was unanimously re-elected district secretary.

Under the organization's new constitution, District 19 is divided into sub-districts. Governors for each of these sub-districts also were elected yesterday as follows:

Sverre Ondahl, Sedro Wooley, Washington, District 19-A; Chester Lesh, Seattle, District 19-B; Vernon Smith, Vancouver, Washington, District 19-C; Robert Guthrie, Wapato, Washington, District 19-D, and Raymond R. Morrison, Spokane, Washington, District 19-E.

The executive governor-elect was honored at a luncheon held early in the afternoon at the Bay Street Armoury, and attended by more than 1,500 delegates and their wives.

The afternoon session concluded with a speaking contest.

...Oddities...

PARIS, June 21 (AP).—A lion walked into the food and coal rationing office of the town of Epinal, causing citizens waiting for ration coupons to leave hastily through the windows. Some fainted.

Gendarmes and firemen captured the beast, escaped from a nearby circus. He didn't get any coupons.

LONDON, June 21 (CP).—Charles Toogood of Bristol went to London for a holiday recently. He picked up an ornamental clip on the street and thought nothing of it.

Then he read about the £850 reward that was being offered for the apparent "junk jewelry" brooch.

When he claimed the reward he discovered the clip was worth £10,000.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 21 (CP).—It was perhaps the noisest telephone conversation record when James Morris of Bodmin, Cornwall, England, and Fred Shaw of Memphis chatted by trans-Atlantic telephone.

Morris is the town crier in Bodmin who recently won the English championship, besting 12 other criers in reading a 200-word statement. He was heard with clarity at a distance of a quarter of a mile.

But Shaw was just as noisy. He's the hog-calling champion of the United States.

"Oyez, Oyez!" cried Morris.

"Whoooooeeee!" yelled Shaw back at him.

After a few minutes of that they started bellowing: "I can't hear you."

"Other Income" for Veterans More Generously Interpreted

(Special to The Daily Colonist)

OTTAWA, June 21.—Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., has won from the Veterans' Affairs Department a more generous interpretation for war veterans, who are under the War Veterans' Allowance Act, on what they may include under the exemption for "other income."

For "other income" there is an exemption under the act of $125 per annum for a single veteran and $250 for a married veteran, or widow with dependent children. This was being interpreted officially as meaning income derived from investments, pension, superannuation insurance payments and rentals.

Gen. Pearkes has been urging that this exemption for "other income" should also include earnings of veterans as a gardener, plumber, carpenter, etc., as a result of money which they had put into the purchase of tools. The department has now granted Gen. Pearkes' request for this wider interpretration. War Veterans' Allowance Boards and District Rehabilitation Review Boards are being instructed accordingly.

Gen. Pearkes had emphasized to the Veterans' Affairs Department that while many classes of veterans had put their savings into investments of the type from which the return was being considered by the allowance boards as "other income," others had put their money into the purchase of their own tools. This latter class of veterans must be given consideration as a matter of justice, Gen. Pearkes submitted.

Huge Crowds in Ottawa See Colorful Events of Congress

OTTAWA, June 21 (CP).—As part of the ceremonies attending the Marian Congress here, a dinner was tendered tonight in the Chateau Laurier for James, Cardinal McGuigan, of Toronto, Papal Legate to the Congress, by Most Reverend Alexandre Vachon, Archbishop of Ottawa.

Hundreds of persons gathered in the corridors outside of the banquet hall to watch the arrival and departures of members of the church hierarchy attending the dinner.

Earlier in the evening, honorary degrees were conferred on a number of members of episcopates at Ottawa University.

A crowd of 200,000 persons lined the route of a special religious parade today. Veteran Ottawa police officers said the turnout was the greatest in the city's history. The parade started at the Parliament Buildings and ended at the giant repository in Lansdowne Park.

Earlier in the day, celebrity-conscious Ottawa turned part of its attention and curiosity to the famed Dionne quintuplets who proceeded to "steal the show" from the moment that they arrived to take part in the religious festival.

The quints caused a traffic jam and great crowds congregated as they arrived at a downtown theatre Friday night to view the religious drama, "Our Lady of Fair Love," presented as part of the congress activities.

The quints were accompanied by their parents, two sisters and three brothers. Cecile, Annette and Yvonne managed to gain entry to the theatre lobby immediately but Marie and Emilie were cut off for some minutes by the eager spectators.

A bevy of "angels" from the cast of the drama proved unable to suppress the desire to see the quints, and came out into the theatre from backstage.

The sisters are scheduled to make a public appearance Sunday night at the giant congress repository at Lansdowne Park in connection with the festival program.

Tonight's two-mile long processional featured 29 floats, accompanied by all the church dignitaries who have invaded the city.

It took place by candlelight and on one of the floats was the Cardinal Legate, Cardinal McGuigan, of Toronto, holding the blessed sacrament, as the procession made its way along the city's canal-bordered driveway to Lansdowne Park.

U.S. Official London-Bound

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP).—Undersecretary of State William Clayton, ranking American authority on economic foreign policy, flew to London today at the climax of British-French efforts to win Russian co-operation in the Marshall propcsal for European recovery.

Clayton is the first high State Department official to visit Europe since Secretary Marshall, on June 5, called for European Governments to take the initiative in working out their own salvation before the United States gives further financial aid.

Authoritative indications were that Clayton would tell any British official who raised the question that Marshall wants something more than merely a new schedule of loans and grants which Europeans would like from the United States. The idea Clayton is prepared to emphasize is that the United States will back only a plan providing for minimum American aid and maximum European self-help.

Longshoremen Idle on Sunday

VANCOUVER, June 20 (CP).—Longshoremen who refused to work overtime on Sunday to unload 56,000 stems of bananas from the Ss. Comagua are still standing pat by their decision.

Fruit men here had feared at first that there would be a great deal of spoilage, since only 14,000 stems would be unloaded before the week-end, leaving some 42,000 still in the hold. However, an official of the company importing the fruit said today that there would be "no more than the usual spoilage."

When the unloading started some "non-paying passengers" were found to be aboard with the result that the longshoremen are eyeing all stems for deadly snakes and spiders. A three-foot snake has already been picked up and a large black spider was seen, which may be a deadly tarantula.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 21 (AP).—Thomas J. Williams, 28, Portland, drowned in the Columbia River late today when he fell from a surf board while stunting as the board was dragged behind a speed boat.

Boys Injured By Dynamite

SANTA FE, N.M., June 21 (AP).—Three Santa Fe boys were partly blinded and a fourth was burned severely yesterday while playing with dynamite and caps.

Patrolman Juan Ortiz said they tossed five sticks of dynamite and several caps into a small bonfire.

South Africa Seeks Weather-Guard System Similar to That of Canada

JOHANNESBURG, June 21 (CP).—South Africa, like Canada, soon will be divided into six weather forecast regions with a network of observation stations spread throughout the country, if the recommendations of a United States expert are carried out.

Awaiting approval by the Government are suggestions of Professor Athelstan Spilhaus, of the United States Weather Bureau, who has just ended a 15,000-mile investigation into the reorganization of the Union's meteorological services.

While his recommendations will not bring South Africa up to Canada's level in weather reporting, they do represent a considerable advance. For several months Canadian-developed weather reporting equipment has been arriving here after a South African delegation visited North America. They inspected both Canadian and United States devices, and decided the Canadian-made radiosonde equipment was better.

Professor Spilhaus made the following recommendations to the Government:

1. The use of radio and radar at principal meteorological centres for recording upper air winds. The visual recording methods at present used could not be put into operation when the weather was overcast, yet that was the time when accurate information was needed most by aircraft pilots.

2. The establishment of 18 additional manned weather observing stations in the Union and a wide network of "co-operative observers" (unofficial stations manned by amateurs).

3. The division of the Union and Southwest Africa into six weather regions. South Africa is a vast area, and meteorological conditions in the Cape are very different from those in the Transvaal, for instance.

4. Much more responsibility to be placed on these centres and bigger centre staffs. This would enable special applications for weather reports to be met.

5. The linking of all stations by radio or teleprinters so that any one regional observation would reach all other regional stations within half an hour.

6. A 24-hour weather forecast service, based on four daily observations. At present only two daily observations were taken—one at 8:30 a.m. and the other at 3 p.m. The present morning weather forecast is often inaccurate because it is based on observations made on the previous afternoon.

Licence Issued To Air Service

A licence to operate a non-scheduled charter air service for crop-dusting and aerial photography has been issued to Westinghouse Airways Ltd. by the Air Transport Board in Ottawa, it was learned here yesterday. The firm will fly from a base in Esquimalt.

The company is now operating out of Vancouver, but proposes to make its second base of operations here, and will use five aircraft—two Seabees, two Luscombe amphibians and one Fairchild amphibian.

The service is operated by two brothers, Lawrence and Aubrey Westinghouse, both Victoria veterans of the R.C.A.F. and the R.A.F.

Sightseeing and Rally Enliven Convention

BEAUTIFUL weather, combined with a full and interesting program, helped make the Lions District 19 convention an outstanding success. While here, hundreds of delegates from Washington and Idaho took part in an organized automobile sightseeing trip through the city. The procession is shown in the top photograph at Ross Bay.

Chief Requests Greater Care Backing Cars

Chief J. A. McLellan yesterday warned motorists to exercise greater care in backing their cars out from the curb, especially when parked near intersections, or other pedestrian crossings.

"The following extract from a letter is typical of many complaints of carelessness and discourtesy in backing cars," said the Chief. "The writer states: 'As I was about to cross the road, a motorist backed his car without any warning and very nearly pushed me over, in fact, pressed against the calf of my leg. I knocked at the window of the car and told him he had nearly knocked me down, but there was no apology.'

"This was an instance where the motorist should have used his horn as a warning of his intention to back out from the curb, or should have waited long enough for the pedestrian to pass out of his path into safety. Assuming, however, that he miscalculated his distance, he still had left to him the saving courtesy of an apology.

"Many of the serious difficulties we get ourselves into are the result of little careless or discourteous actions in the first place. When backing out from the curb, it is well to remember that you can back into trouble much more easily than you can back out of it."

ASK PATIENTS REMIT

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Kirkland Lake District hospital board has decided to launch a campaign to clean up bad debts. A check-up showed patients' delinquent accounts running into thousands of dollars.

First Operation on "Blue Baby" In Victoria Hospital Successful

Dr. John D. Stenstrom, consulting thoracic surgeon for the Queen Alexandra Solarium, performed the first operation of its kind in Victoria last week at Royal Jubilee Hospital when he successfully operated on Carol, a ten-year-old "blue baby" from Duncan.

"Carol's condition is very satisfactory and she is showing definite improvement," said Dr. Morley Beckett, superintendent of the hospital.

"Blue babies" from this area previously have been sent to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Two of them, "Janet" and "Janet No. 2," were successfully treated at Baltimore, being sent there with funds raised by the Victoria Lions Club.

When Dr. Stenstrom performed the operation he used the Blalock-Taussig technique devised by Dr. Blalock at Baltimore in which a large artery in the chest cavity is turned from its course into the lungs. The operation is a lengthy one, requiring from three to four hours.

Dr. Glenn Simpson, medical superintendent of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, who referred Carol's case to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, said that Carol was expected to be in hospital for about ten days and would then return to the solarium.

"The solarium now feels that it is in a position to admit patients of this type," Dr. Simpson said.

Duncan and Lake Cowichan Lodges, B.P.O.E., were instrumental in raising funds to assist Carol.

RADIO TUBE STOLEN

Anyone who would deprive aged men of their favorite entertainment must be the "meanest thief in the world," in the opinion of Major R. Shaw, of the Salvation Army.

Either Friday or Saturday, according to Major Shaw, someone took a tube from a cabinet radio at Salvation Army headquarters, 525 Johnson Street. Maj. Shaw is hopeful that the tube will be returned so that the radio can be used again.

Stern Section Is Joined To New Vessel

Everything possible is being done at the No. 2 plant of Yarrows Ltd. to hasten the completion of the new $3,000,000 Canadian National Railways passenger vessel.

Some time ago a start was made on the stern of the ship, which was assembled and welded at a considerable distance from the hull.

Yesterday the 10-ton stern unit, through the use of five cranes, was transferred 350 feet from the assembly location and lowered in place.

With the lifting operation under the direction of head rigger Jack Lowe, the stern section was transferred from one crane to another without once touching the ground. It was one of the most delicate projects handled so far in the ship's building program.

The stern section was tack welded and bolted in place, and tomorrow morning welders will permanently weld it to the rest of the hull.

His screen credits included a part in "Tenth Avenue Angel" with Margaret O'Brien, and he has played the title role in "Oliver Twist" and was on "Cavalcade of America" with Lionel Barrymore.

At present the young star and his mother are staying with his aunt, Mrs. George Duncan, 2528 Cavendish Avenue, and they will be joined by his father in a few days. They plan to remain on Vancouver Island for several weeks.

Education of Adults Discussed At Final Session of Conference

Graham Bruce, director of night schools in Vancouver, discussed the adult education program in that city yesterday before the final meeting of the two-day Playground and Community Centres Conference in the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Bruce stated that schools in Vancouver were available under trained leadership for adult education through the financial support of the Vancouver Kiwanis Club.

George Anstey outlined the work of the Victoria night schools and said that handiwork classes were more popular than academic ones.

The Greater Victoria School Board, he added, was in favor of using present buildings for the instruction of adults as facilities permitted.

Earlier in the day, a four-way discussion on problems of community centres was held with Miss M. Hines of the James Bay Centre, W. R. McDougall, North Vancouver Community Centre, Mrs. C. J. McKay, Saanich Suburban Centre and Cliff Leslie of the Alberni Centre taking part. Four types of centres were discussed, and all reported progress in their work.

W. R. McDougal, president of the B.C. Community Centre Association, acted as chairman. The conference was under the joint auspices of the Greater Victoria Recreation Council, the B.C. Community Centres Association and the Extension Department of the University of British Columbia.

Kindness

Among the quiet, but healing, virtues of human nature is kindness, however unnoticed it may pass in the fever of a changing world. It may be only a word, a smile or a handclasp, but this gentle expression of good will has saved many an individual from grey defeat, changed perhaps the course of a life, or restored human courage to its throne. It is a simple giving, and yet its value in human relations is beyond price. No gold could buy what kindness gives away so unobtrusively, without vaunting or self-display. No record could contain a fraction of what it has done for the world.

It is a triumph of human character that surmounts the discords and strife of daily living to harbor good will, and not ill will, toward fellow travelers on life's stony journey. Jealousy, envy, and all the foul brood of the hate have to be laid aside before one can rise to such a giving. For kindness at its base is the Golden Rule in action, applied in the affairs of mankind. It is this giving which enriches and ennobles human nature, and redeems mankind from the brute beasts.

Often kindness is the product of suffering. To have a fellow feeling with any creature one must be able to place one's self in his shoes. It is that capacity of thinking for others and understanding their circumstances and trials which enlarges the human heart and makes of it the sentient temple of a balanced life. Human nature is never closer to God than when it is guided by a feeling heart: the solvent which can dissolve the stubborn cankers of a dissident world.

Beasts may live through the survival of the fittest, but that would be a puny goal for mankind. Better, richer and fuller will be life as society masters those hates which could only destroy it. Leading the way, without trumpet or fanfare, are those who carry into daily living something of the mercy and compassion which was our Lord's. They both give and receive, out of a clean heart.

Human Rights

It was a forthright declaration of human rights that Prime Minister Attlee gave to a meeting of miners in the United Kingdom yesterday, in voicing his dismay at the "travesty" of events which have taken place recently in several countries of Eastern Europe. What the British Prime Minister had so say bears repeating. It should be studied by every Canadian who believes in democratic freedom as it is known in this country.

We quote:

"I am concerned that there should be people in this country and people who profess to be Socialists, who appear to condone things that are done by governments that call themselves Left, when they would protest vigorously if precisely the same things were done by governments of the Right.

"Freedom of speech, freedom of conscience and personal freedom are the right of the individual whether he is a capitalist or a worker, a Conservative, a Liberal or Socialist.

"Wherever you find the right of opposition denied, wherever you find such devices as the single list of candidates, wherever you find a government that cannot be removed by the method of the ballot box, there is no true democracy, there is no true freedom."

Mr. Attlee may have been directing his remarks particularly to the rebels within the ranks of his own party, but their significance is much more far-reaching. There is a cogent reminder here for all Canadians who believe in the traditional methods of responsible government, and complete liberty of expression whether by word of mouth or through the medium of the ballot.

Amid the welter of ideas which have encumbered the postwar era there is a safeguard for any nation which holds fast to these cardinal principles.

Memorial Days

The suggestion that an annual Memorial Day be proclaimed as a statutory holiday during the Summer illustrates the difficulty of combining allegiances which have their inspiration in different eras and events, even if of a similar nature. Remembrance Day, or Armistice Day as some veterans still call it, which falls in the Winter, has been an annual memorial holiday now for 29 years. Although to ex-servicemen of the Great War it may be their particular occasion for remembering old comrades, in recent years the war dead of both world conflicts have been honored by nationwide ceremonies on this day.

Understandably enough, November 11 has not the same significance for veterans of the World War, who find in the observances which have taken place in recent years on or close to June 6 a more appropriate opportunity to pay tribute to former comrades in arms. It is not without interest, incidentally, that it is not the anniversary of the cease fire which has come to have special meaning for ex-servicemen and women of 1939-45, but of the day when the liberation of Europe was launched. This observance also, it must be noted, has embraced the memory of the dead of both wars.

It is a fact that from the standpoint of weather November 11 is not the best time for public outdoor ceremonies. Outside of British Columbia the Canadian elements are usually cold and cheerless on that day, which in itself tends to lessen the attendance at memorial services. Old associations are hard to wean, however, and this holiday has become a cherished occasion. On the other hand, the younger veterans have an equally valid claim for a day related specially to their own experiences, although whether it is necessary to have two national holidays for what after all might be legitimately regarded as the same sacred purpose it is not easy to determine.

A solution might be for a new date altogether to be set for this annual remembrance of war dead, at a suitable period of the year as to weather, without especial connection with the events of either war. This would of course run counter to the wishes of many ex-servicemen, who with justification place so much emphasis on days which have particular meaning for them. All indeed that might be said in its favor is that such a proposal might help to harmonize the divergent preferences which memorial days now present.

Twilight

Twilight spreads over the Pacific Northwest at the end of a June day softly and unperceived. The direct rays of the sun disappear over the western horizon, leaving a diffused and mellow light. It was roseate as the lingering sunshine climbed the tall boles of the fir trees and painted the undersides of clouds. It was golden as the west flamed in all the colors of a peacock's tail, fading one by one. With the true twilight, however, comes that opalescent sheen: that strange half-light which softens every tortured outline, and turns each tattered form to beauty.

People say vaguely that there is a glow in the air. It is more than that. The colors of the ground are leaving on their evening flight into the skies. They will linger awhile on western slopes, they will carmine hilltop windows; but in the end they will pass into the clouds, and be shepherded home in trailing wisps of feathery light—in gossip clouds that sail on a rainbow sea towards the last west and night. From the rose, carnation and honeysuckle will be filched their waning hues. From daisy and dandelion will pass the golden yellow hearts. But it will be all there in the sky, tint by borrowed tint.

As the afterglow of sunset pales, twilight comes fully into its own. There is a mellow, dreamy atmosphere to the haze which pearls the evening in its soft, enfolding light. The human countenance seen in it takes on new warmth and compassion, loses the strained and fretted look. Foliage blends into soft, shadowy forms. The daisy closes its petals and gives way to slumber. The white birch cuts a slender filigree against the changing palette of the sky. A tranquil alchemy stills the earth to rest. A late robin pipes from the tallest poplar its grand farewell to the day. Long are these northern twilights, soft and mellow, and lingering in the heart.

Seen In Passing

It has been a settled thing with the Ancients of every era that the world is decadent. Man, they say, has passed his peak. His glories lie in the past. Music, art and literature have seen their heyday. Culture is on the wane. Chapter and verse are cited in support of such arguments, and at times they make telling reading. For all that, man has ever lifted himself upward to new and to higher peaks by an irregular progression which confounds most of the probabilities. Likely he will do it again.

Seven weeks of mild frost in the Winter season have given Victoria a bumper crop of roses this June. The aphis and other blights are negligible. Rose leaves are clear and shining, and a ten-minute walk in any section of the city will convince anyone of the prolific volume and excellence of the blooms. Yet when the frost was on how many people were prepared to concede that Nature knew what she was about? How many people grumbled at this "worst" of all Winters?

Want is want, and the world's sun shines or hides its face in fairly direct relation to the degree in which hunger can be assuaged among mankind. In favored lands, however, want is the exception and not the rule. There the business of eating three meals a day sometimes becomes a mere habit, a routine of hours. Food is absorbed that is not required, insufficient exercise is taken to balance that, and the result is indigestion and a peevish mind.

"The World Is Wild . . ."

The world is wild as an old wives' tale,
And strange the plain things are,
The earth is enough and the air is enough
For our wonder and our war;
But our rest is as far as the fire-drake swings,
And our peace is put in impossible things
Where clashed and thundered unthinkable wings
Round an incredible star.

To an open house in the evening
Home shall men come,
To an older place than Eden
And a taller town than Rome:
To the end of the way of the wandering star,
To the things that cannot be and that are,
To the place where God was homeless
And all men are at home.

The Third Column

By TOM TAYLOR

HONORING A PRINCESS

If the Princess was surprised at the motley gathering that had come to do her honor—motley in the sense only of variety, we hasten to add—like the gracious sea maiden she is there was no echo of disapproval to be heard. What secrets a mistress of the seas must seclude behind her bulkheads, or, as in the case of the Princess Kathleen, beneath the decorative panels which caressing V.M.D. hands have fashioned to hide the ravages of war!

It was an auspicious occasion, last Friday's luncheon aboard the flagship of the C.P.R. coastal fleet. It is not everyday that one attends the coming out, as it were, of a matron after she has undergone a beauty-treatment; particularly when the critics are all of the masculine persuasion. If this is to speak lightly of a lady who defied the wiles of the most persistent Nazi, how else can you describe her re-emergence as a young and beautiful maiden? And if you don't believe that the Kathleen, now going on 24 Summers and Winters, looks like an ocean debutante, take a trip on her this afternoon—if you are fortunate enough to secure a ticket.

COMBINED FASCINATION

As we said, it was a motley crowd who crossed the gangway to pass judgment on the Kathleen's face-lifting, although, in fact, it is not merely her face that has been powdered and rouged. Her outlines not being of the variable human variety they have remained the same, of course, but then they always were gracious in contour. But if any came to criticise, and since that would have been ungallant there must have been few of this vintage, they made quick amends and quaffed a cheerful toast in praise.

It would be, perchance, the combined fascination of ships and the femininity they represent that caused such a mixed male company to gather in the Princess' saloon, for there were many, all reputable Victorians, of course, to whom the sea and its handmaidens must be occupational strangers indeed. There were, naturally, more than a sprinkling of the faces one sees at other and less felicitous luncheons—the Princess Kathleen is well served in her pantries—but that is not to shame either the occasion or the Princess' guests.

OMNIPRESENT MAYOR

The Mayor was there, it need scarcely be said. Where do you go that you don't see the Mayor? He too, we suspect, must have hidden secrets; perhaps a regret for the countless luncheons and dinners he must consume with a smile and follow with appropriate discourse. Some day, it may be, a sympathetic electorate will supply him with an official substitute, who will cut silver ribbons, turn golden keys, open bazaars and make presentations while he, in deep thankfulness of spirit, sits closeted with the more durable if less offiate duties of his office.

Not that this particular luncheon would be listed on the melancholy roll of enforced mayoralty repasts. He used this word in thanking the chef—a nice touch it was—and his appreciation of the Princess' hospitality was too obvious for this to have been an occasion he would have missed in person, even were that substitute a reality instead of a Third Column suggestion.

There is an idea, says H. M. Tomlinson, whose sense of the sea is uplifting, that the very riveters may give to a ship their own mood. May not other shipwrights, then, endow her with the virtue of reception, so that plaudits do not spend themselves in vain against iron stanchions and wooden decks but instead become one with the living thing she is?

INCARNADINE TINGE

If sea maidens blush, therefore—and who is to say that nay?—we doubt not but that some of the praises sung at her second peacetime debut deepened the incarnadine tinge of the Princess' house colors. She was a "beautiful ship," a "queen" (thus elevating her in the scale of precedence), and a "masterpiece," surely even an experienced matron undergoing a new baptism could not listen to such compliments without surreptitious entry in her bulkhead diary.

The shipwrights, of course, who had adorned her in glowing fashion and to whom these tributes really belonged, were not there to hear the well-deserved phrases, although they would read about them in the newspapers. They were not far-off, however. As we came ashore they were sitting on the dock, waiting for the Princess' guests to depart so they might hasten aboard, no doubt, to note and correct any disarray to her toilet caused by her landlubbing admirers. For the last little finishing touch, wisely deferred until after the luncheon, had yet to be added.

The Princess Kathleen's reconversion, we learned, was the biggest laboratory operation of its kind in Canadian maritime history. This would explain much, albeit still leaving you to marvel at the ingenuity and deft touch of rough male hands on a graceful Princess of the sea.

Flying Boats Growing in Popular Favor

By E. C. SHEPHERD
Aviation Expert, London Sunday Times
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON, June 21 (By Cable).—An inquiry was received in Britain recently for a price and a delivery date for one of the 260,000-pound flying boats that are being built by the firm of Saunders-Roe. This is the boat that will use six gas turbines to drive contrarotating airscrews and will probably cruise at something more than 330 m.p.h. It will have passenger accommodation on two decks and, on the lower deck, will provide a certain number of cabins after the style of those in ships.

Only three of these boats have been ordered so far. These are intended for British Overseas Airways and present plans are based on the belief that they will have been thoroughly tested, that crews will have been trained in the use of them, and that suitable bases will have been prepared for them so that they can go into service in 1950.

If an order from a foreign operator were accepted subject to an early delivery date, England would probably have to forego one of the three now building.

Production rates cannot be much accelerated so long as orders are fewer than 20. With big aircraft of the kind that will appear on British routes in 1950, orders are unlikely to be numerous enough to allow fast production. Only governments are likely to be in a position to order relatively large numbers of such aircraft. The constructors cannot build speculatively, and there are few dealers who can afford to order aircraft "off the drawing board" in the hope of being able to find a market for them.

Governments may, therefore, have to underwrite the production of aircraft for export, as well as for the home market. The alternative, in the case of Britain, will be to accept partial austerity on her air routes after 1950 in the interests of the export trade. That is to say, that if an order were placed now for a Saunders-Roe flying boat, it could be filled only at the expense of British Overseas Airways. This situation has not actually arisen yet, but the inquiry of a few weeks ago suggests that it may arise.

In that event the dilemma of the British Government may be less acute than might be supposed. Although the big flying boats have been on order for more than a year, there is as yet no final decision on the site for a marine base in England for them. The choice of a site at Portsmouth was made last year, but the Admiralty objected that this would interfere with certain activities of the Navy. No comparable alternative has yet been found. The work of constructing a marine base will occupy at least two years.

But in spite of delays, Britain will be ready to operate her big boats by the time they are ready for delivery, even if an interim commitment of the colossal sum of $55,692. The figure is cause for grave speculation regarding future taxation.

The reason for the accusation of discrimination lies in the fact that all land not rating a reduction for building or improvements will still be subject to the tax over and above the five mills. Absentee owners will be subject to dual taxation for school purposes, which in itself proves that all taxes for schooling in the province should be borne by overall taxation.

promise scheme has to be brought into operation.

There is evidence in Britain of the growing favor in which the flying boat is held by passengers. With a fleet of about 40 flying boats, B.O.A.C. has had a long period of accident-free operation, and this has confirmed the traveling public in the belief that flying over the sea in a seaplane is safer than doing it in a landplane.

There may be no sound basis for that belief, but popular favor in other fields has rested on equally illogical premises. And there are other reasons for the public's preference for flying boats. Among them is the ample space afforded by the deep flying-boat hull. The hull is deep because the airscrews need to be kept clear of the water and that depth means spare cubic feet for the passenger saloons, and plenty of stowage space for the stores and cooking apparatus which make a long journey pleasant.

In British experience the flying boat has become popular even at the cost of speed. Most of the flying boats on British routes cruise at 160 to 180 m.p.h. at present, as compared with 230 m.p.h. by the landplanes. They also spend some nights in port, on the long run to Australia, with the result that they take more than twice as long to reach Sydney as the landplane service, which makes the 12,000-mile trip in three days. Nevertheless there are long waiting lists for the flying-boat service between England and Australia. In a month or two there will be a flying-boat service from England to Johannesburg. And there are signs already that it will be well supported.

When the big new boats become available in 1950, the seaplane will be able to meet the landplane on level terms in the matter of speed, and will still be able to offer more room to move about and accommodation more nearly equivalent to that of a ship. The presumption is that the flying boat has a promising future in British commercial air transport. The inquiry received from a foreign operator suggests that the flying boat may have an important part to play on other routes besides those of the British.

RURAL SCHOOL TAXATION

Sir,—Judging by the palliative that is being offered by a section of the Government to the plea for an easement on the exorbitant school taxes imposed on the rural and unorganized districts of British Columbia, a conclusion is being forced that there has been a misunderstanding on the part of the Government psychologically.

The people were not asking for discrimination for a section but "Justice" for all, by way of relief.

The Government accepted the Cameron finding and it became law. A five mill tax for schooling was to be imposed—and materialized—on the tax papers for 1946.

Though finding it very hard for some to furnish, it was paid submissively.

The adoption of the program—to quote the Premier—will be "to relieve and equalize the burden of taxation for school purposes upon land and improvements, and thereby give financial aid to municipalities and property holders in unorganized areas."

In 1947 our tax papers were unduly delayed in delivery, probably because they had to bear the additional weight of an extra burden. The five mills had been raised to 9.56 mills.

East Sooke is a straggling area and harbors—according to electoral figures—about 50 to 60 households. For two years—1942-44—while without a school, we were assessed a school tax, added to the land tax. Now, while prices have been at their peak, a school has been built which must have cost $5,000 to $6,000, merely for the schooling of eight—occasionally nine—pupils.

On our taxpaper for 1947, under the heading—amount requisitioned for school purposes—there is printed the colossal sum of $55,692. The figure is cause for grave speculation regarding future taxation.

The reason for the accusation of discrimination lies in the fact that all land not rating a reduction for building or improvements will still be subject to the tax over and above the five mills. Absentee owners will be subject to dual taxation for school purposes, which in itself proves that all taxes for schooling in the province should be borne by overall taxation.

Keeping up with the Joneses means little today. It is keeping up with soaring prices that hurts. . . . Some neighbors who are addicted to borrowing will take almost anything, except a hint. . . . A man wrapped up in himself makes a very small package. . . . Many a man thinks he has an open mind when it is merely vacant. . . . You can lead a boy to college, but you cannot always make him think. . . . A great writer once remarked: "In order to be successful, a man must be willing to write for the wastebasket." . . . "You should enter politics," a Vancouver Street resident told his wife. "What on earth do you mean?" she asked. "You should enter politics because you are so good at introducing bills into the house," he replied. . . . One necessity in business is to keep the overhead underfoot. . . . Last time the boss of the shop paid a visit to Bill, the Broad Street barber, he found him stripping wallpaper from the dining-room. "Are you going to hang new paper?" he asked. "Of course not. I am moving," Bill chuckled. Bill caused his better half considerable embarrassment a few years ago when they had a house-warming after moving to new quarters. Stimulated by a few cups of tea, he addressed the gathering in the following terms: "You know, we lived in the old house for eight years, and I did not realize there was a bathtub until the day we moved." . . . Alvin E. Dodd, New York, declared during a joint meeting of the Quebec Division and Montreal Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at Montreal: "There is need for a greater understanding of the way our economic system functions. It is important that we look on business and industrial activity as a means of organizing the efforts of the people, rather than the harnessing of materials and technological processes. It is significant that the standard of living remains highest in those countries where there is the least restriction upon competition, the essential characteristic of free enterprise."

Victoria in Beard and Crinoline

From Files of The British Colonist For June, 1860

By G. E. MORTIMORE

Throw away that penicillin! Medical scientists, wasting their time poking around with test tubes all these years, have overlooked a medicine which will cure anything—it says so in The British Colonist files for 1860.

Adolphus and Jungerman, druggists, devoted half a column of advertising space to the miraculous virtues of "Dr. Adolphus' Anti-Rheumatic Cordial," a versatile concoction which was supposed to banish almost every disease in the book.

"Dr. Adolphus' Anti-Rheumatic Cordial and Health Restorative," the advertisement boldly stated, "is the most unsurpassed remedy for rheumatism and gout to be found in the world, or known at present . . .

"The discoverer of the above medicine does claim its infallibility in all cases of rheumatism and gout . . . and does offer a reward of five thousand dollars to any medicine that does supersede it, and is entirely vegetable.

"As a health restorative its value supersedes all the mineral wealth and riches of California; and is creating a revolution in the whole treatment of disease throughout the world.

"In . . . the whole train of Chronic Diseases, which withstand and baffle the skill of the most excellent and learned physician in the world; in chronic diseases whose very name is a terror as well to the physician as to the patient, this medicine has proved to be superior to any in existence, and has cured in so short a time that they appeared like being abolished by magic influence, and in fact a few more such discoveries, and druggists will not need to keep a lot of useless medicines on hand . . .

"The Doctor, who is averse to all patent medicines, wishes it to be understood that the above is no such thing; but that he has, through the introduction of this medicine . . . made every sufferer to be his own physician in the above named diseases.

"I have adjoined to every bottle . . . the certificate, under oath, of one of the most celebrated Analytical Chemists in the United States, that there are no minerals or poisons contained in this medicine, although it is a very powerful medicine, and has a very strong action on the human system, which is necessarily must have, to overcome the action of diseases of such malignant character."

With such a miracle remedy in existence, it wasn't surprising that The Colonist questioned a bill to regulate the medical profession. If Dr. Adolphus' claims had been correct, doctors would have been retired.

"After doctoring bills for three months without curing any of the diseases of the body politic," said The Colonist, "the Assembly has hit on the bright expedient of considering a doctors' bill. And such a bill it is, that the sooner it becomes waste paper, the better . . . Nothing but the anxiety of some obliging members to have their constituents killed scientifically, could ever have induced any one to father it."

Newfoundland to Discuss Federation With Canada

This fishing village in Newfoundland is typical of the many that dot the old colony's rugged coastline where residents depend on fishing for their livelihood. Newfoundland today is faced with problems of confederation with Canada as the tenth province, and has sent a seven-man delegation to Ottawa to discuss terms by a possible Federal union. Whether or not Newfoundland will make any financial gains by uniting with Canada will be discussed in Ottawa. An unofficial poll among the colony's citizens showed they favored a union with the United States.

Survivor Describes Terrifying Wait As Flaming Plane Plunged to Earth

ISTANBUL, June 21 (AP). — Jane Bray, blonde hostess on the ill-fated clipper Eclipse, told today how the 36 persons aboard waited in terror amid the roar of flames for the inevitable crash which was to kill 14 of their number.

Under the bright stars of a serene Syrian sky, the Constellation, her port wing afire, hurtled toward the desert with a mighty screech, landed on its belly, ground-looped to the left and split in two. The Pan American Airways craft was enveloped in flames.

The 28-year-old Memphis, Tenn., girl, who ignored her own broken foot and worked over the survivors until she collapsed, told this story:

She went to sleep knowing that one motor was feathered but she was not worried about it. A short time later she was awakened by flames whipping past the port windows. She saw the purser, Anthony Colpe, and the third officer, Eugene Roddenberry, standing in the aisle.

"I knew then it was bad. They came to me and said 'get your belt fastened tight.'

"I started to get up and they said harshly, 'Get your belt on!'

"Then all of us called to the passengers to get their belts on. They did. There wasn't a sign of panic.

"Nimbalkar Rajkumar, the Indian Prince, got up and went over to his mother, the Rani. (Both were among the survivors). Everybody else sat still and we just waited, each thinking his own thoughts.

"I looked out. The No. 2 motor was all afire and it seemed to have spread to the wing. I wondered why they didn't drop that motor. I looked up and even through the fire I could see bright stars. But everything else was as black as pitch. Suddenly there was a hard jar, just like when a tooth is pulled and you feel it crunch. The burning motor had fallen loose.

"The wing kept burning and we were coming down and it seemed we were circling. We waited . . . waited . . . waited.

"We hit hard on the belly with an awful jar which would not stop. We slid across the sand. The plane swung hard around to the left and split in two, pretty well forward. Flames poured in and the heat became terrific.

"We who could jumped out. The other survivors were handed down and we dragged them away and tried to do what we could for them. We had to carry the Rani away. She had a head injury and had lost some teeth and was in rather a bad way, but we finally quieted her.

"All we could do then was watch while the plane burned, slowly at first and then fiercely. It must have burned for hours, but I do not remember too well. There wasn't any sound but those flames. Everybody who died must have been killed outright."

Another survivor, Dr. Rafiden Ahmed of Calcutta, said that "both sides of the plane blew off, and that explains how some passengers were saved."

Plane Crash Injures Three

SEASIDE, Ore., June 21 (AP).—A plane carrying three Port Angeles coastguardsmen crashed in downtown Seaside today, but the three escaped serious injury.

The pilot, Elwood Darms, and Albert Eckersley were taken to a hospital—Darms with a fractured ankle and cuts, Eckersley with a fractured elbow and cuts. The third man, James H. Britt, was only scratched.

The trio had flown here from Port Angeles in a chartered Piper Cub to week-end at the beach here. The plane was seriously damaged.

CAR DAMAGED

Saanich police reported last night that a hit-and-run driver had caused damage estimated at $200 to a car driven by a Powell River resident.

Police said the car was struck on the West Saanich Road between the intersection of Goward Road and the road leading to the Dominion observatory.

Russian Efforts to Build Up Steel Industry Worrying U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP). — Senator Edward Martin (Rep., Pa.) pictured Russia Saturday as "making a great effort" to build up her steel industry for a possible challenge to America's production leadership.

Martin, who is directing a special United States Senate inquiry into the steel industry, told a reporter he "is worried about this."

"We gave Russia some of our most modern steel production equipment during the war when she was our ally and Germany had destroyed many of her plants."

He added that steel industry leaders and Government authorities believe Russia now is "only about one-sixth as efficient in steel production" as the United States.

"But we better keep our eyes on her steel production, if she acquires any of our American know-how," said the Pennsylvania Senator and former Governor. "She is going after this awfully hard.

"With her low wage level, Russia might offer some competition for American steel in South America and Western Europe."

As chairman of the Senate small business sub-committee holding hearings on steel, Martin said he has learned that "Russia is accumulating all possible wartime scrap."

"I think it would be wise for our army, navy and air forces to begin collecting and bringing back some of the millions of tons of scrap we scattered around the world during the recent war, even though such an operation might not be wise from a purely profitable business viewpoint."

U.S. Retains Postal Rates

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP).—House Republican leaders said today there will be no increase in postal rates this year, despite the Administration's request.

The present three-cent rate on first-class mail (letters) will be continued for another year and will not be allowed to drop back to the pre-war two-cent rate on July 1, they told a reporter.

"But they have decided to drop plans for a general postal increase because "there just isn't time enough between now and adjournment late next month to enact such a bill."

In keeping with the decision of the G.O.P. high command, Chairman Rees (R., Kan.) of the House post-office committee has introduced a bill that would retain rates at their present levels until Congress can act on a permanent measure.

Crime Story Writer Unhurt In Pistol and Knife Attack

BAR HARBOR, Me., June 21 (AP). —Novelist Mary Roberts Rinehart's chef, Blas Reyes, 65, was arrested by Bar Harbor police today after, Chief George E. Abbott said, the servant had attacked the author of many crime stories with a pistol and three knives.

Chief Abbott said Reyes, for 25 years an employee of Mrs. Rinehart, had been drinking before the attack. Abbott said a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill would be placed against Reyes.

Twice, Abbott said, Reyes pulled the trigger of an old-fashioned pistol in the alleged assault. The weapon failed to discharge, Abbott added, because the ammunition was old.

Overpowered by two other employees, Abbott said, Reyes escaped their grip and while Mrs. Rinehart tried to phone police he attempted to attack her with the three knives.

Theodore Falkenstrom, Mrs. Rinehart's chauffeur, suffered a hand cut in the defence of his employer, Abbott said.

During the struggle, another household employee ran from the estate, "Eagles Gate," to the street and notified police.

Police Captain Howard McFarland arrested Reyes, whose wife also is employed by Mrs. Rinehart.

Chief Abbott said Reyes maintained he had been discouraged and wanted to "go back home." Abbott said Reyes was a Filipino whom Mrs. Rinehart had taken into her employ in Washington.

Abbott said the pistol attack occurred in the parlor of the Summer estate and that the telephone to which Mrs. Rinehart fled was in the pantry.

Reyes was described by Mrs. Rinehart as "a faithful servant." She said that yesterday he had given notice of resignation, as she said he had done many times before. She did not ask him to stay, she added, although on previous occasions she had done so.

Joining with Falkenstrom in the struggle with Reyes, Abbott said, was a maid, Margaret Muckian.

Soil Conservation To Be Discussed

Discussion centring on soil conservation and use of land will highlight the 27th annual convention of the Agricultural Institute of Canada in Lethbridge from June 23 to 25.

Dr. J. J. Woods, of Victoria, British Columbia director of the institute, and Dr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, will attend the sessions.

In the United States, annual loss from erosion is computed at close to $4,000,000,000, and unless Canada is to suffer the same losses a sound conservation policy must be put into operation, according to Dr. Woods.

Agricultural scientists from all over Canada, field specialists, horticulturalists, livestock men and technical consultants will bring their training and experience to bear during the meetings.

PARISH PICNIC

Annual parish picnic of St. Saviour's Church will be held on Saturday, June 28 at Weir's Beach, and buses for church school children will leave the hall at 11 a.m.

Another bus will leave at 1:30 p.m. and supper will be provided for members of the church school.

Railwayman Finds His House Stolen

EAST PEORIA, Ill., June 21 (AP).—Police here are looking for a stolen house.

Earl A. Allen, a railroad brakeman, told police that when he returned from his run a two-story prefabricated home he was building had disappeared.

Allen said neighbors told him they saw a man piling parts of the house into a truck, but they believed that Allen had decided to change the location of the house.

The house was completely built except for a roof.

Norman Thomas To Run No More

TAMIMENT, Pa., June 21 (AP).—Norman Thomas says he's through running as the Socialist candidate for President because "it isn't good for a man to run so many times."

"Two or three times is all right but after that it gets to be a gesture" he told the 13th annual Tamiment Economic and Social Institute last night. Thomas was the Socialist candidate five times.

To Serve Year For Truck Theft

John Pollard, convicted in city police court on Friday of stealing a truck, was sentenced to serve one year in jail at hard labor when he appeared for sentence before Magistrate Henry C. Hall yesterday.

Charged jointly with Pollard with the theft, Arthur E. Rosenberg was given a suspended sentence. He was required to post a $500 bond to be of good behavior for one year.

The two men were convicted of stealing a truck owned by C. J. Barnes, 1215 Langley Street, on May 22. They were arrested by Sgt. Cecil Pearce and Constable Robert Coleman of the Saanich police on Wicklow Street. Theft took place from Langley Street in the city.

Pollard and Rosenberg were represented in court by Joseph McKenna and George Gregory respectively.

In passing sentence on the two men Magistrate Hall said he had taken into consideration the previous good character of Rosenberg and stated he believed Rosenberg had been "led on" by Pollard.

Rhodes Scholarship Winner Married in Toronto

MR. AND MRS. ALASTAIR WILLIAM GILLESPIE

A WEDDING of considerable interest in Victoria took place in Toronto on Tuesday afternoon, the principals being Miss Diana Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christie T. Clark of Toronto and Mr. Alastair William Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erroll P. Gillespie, Manor Road, Victoria. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Dowker in Grace-Church-on-the-Hill.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of cream satin featuring a circular skirt and flounces of rose point lace. Her Victoria cap and veil were of rare heirloom lace and she carried a cascade of gardenias.

The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Sheila Clark, as maid of honor, wearing a dress of Swiss organza in tourquoise and tied with a yellow satin sash. The bridesmaids, Mrs. John McLean, Misses Joan Davidson, Patricia Ridout, of Toronto, and Nancy Campbell, of Montreal, wore dresses of lemon yellow Swiss organza and small white hats. Their bouquets were of Shasta daisies, white stocks and yellow and Tallsman roses.

The groom's brother, Mr. Andrew Gillespie, was best man and ushers were Mr. Gavin Clark, Mr. Ian Clark, Mr. George Gould, William Wilder, Alan Watson and Jack Chipman. The bridal party was piped from the church by Piper J. R. Gordon of the 48th Highlanders, the regiment of the bride's father.

Following a reception at the Toronto Hunt Club, the couple left on a honeymoon trip, the bride traveling in a yellow print dress, brown wool topcoat and accessories.

Among the guests at the wedding was the groom's mother, Mrs. E. P. Gillespie.

Mr. Gillespie, winner of a Rhodes Scholarship in December 1946, is well known in Victoria, having attended St. Michael's School and Brentwood College here. During the war he served with Royal Canadian Navy and latterly has taken a Commerce degree at McGill University. He is the grandson of Mr. George Gillespie, former manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here and on his maternal side is a grandson of Mr. W. E. Oliver, the first reeve of Oak Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie will come to Victoria in July and in September will spend about two weeks with the former's parents. They will leave for England where the groom will enter Queen's College at Oxford.

During the service Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus," by Cesar Franck, were played.

Heirloom Pendant Worn By Bride

In a setting of lovely Summer flowers at First Baptist Church last evening, Rev. G. R. Easter officiated at the candlelit ceremony uniting in marriage Gwendolyn May Bucknell, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Cox, 1421 Grant Street, and Roger Hartley Warburton, son of Captain and Mrs. Harry Warburton, 1240 Basil Avenue. Mr. Oliver Stout played the organ and during the signing of the register Miss Kathleen Paulin sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in ivory slipper satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves, the full skirt enhanced with an overskirt of heirloom embroidered silk net. From a sweetheart headdress of net and orange blossoms, her mother's wedding veil embroidered at the edges with lovers' knots, billowed to the floor. A ruby pendant worn by four generations of brides was her only jewelry, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white sweet peas and carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Veitch and Miss Shirley Warburton in peach and pale blue, respectively, their frocks styled similarly in nylon over taffeta. They carried muffs composed of pastel sweet peas. Mrs. F. J. Cox, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, gowned in pale mauve crepe with muff of white carnations. All wore velvet coronets with shoulder veils to match their gowns.

The bridegroom's brother Mr. Graham Warburton was best man and ushering were Mr. Ewan Rowntree and Mr. Ross MacKinnen.

The reception was held at the bride's home where Mrs. Cox attired in white crepe with pink flower-hat, and Mrs. Warburton in turquoise blue with small matching hat, assisted in welcoming two hundred guests. The lace-covered table, decorated with pink carnations and lighted by pink candles, was centred with a three-tier cake.

Mr. E. S. Heath proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver and up the Island, the bride traveled in a grey worsted semi-tailored suit with grey felt hat, black plastic accessories, and mauve orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Warburton will reside in Victoria until the Fall when they will leave to make their home in Vancouver.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Presidential vetoes of income tax reduction and labor bills failed to keep the Stock Market from registering an advance this week.

Customers hopeful for an extension of the June rally bid favorite issues higher late in the week after three days of aimless drifting.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite moved ahead .8 of a point during the week to 64.1, its highest level since last April 7. It was the fifth successive week in which it either advanced or held even with the close of the preceding week. Not since the five-week period ended May 5, 1945, had the average equalled this performance.

Activity picked up also, total transactions of 4,710,610 shares comparing with 4,560,400 in the preceding week.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

REDDY FOX SPENDS A BAD NIGHT

It almost always happens when a boaster blows his horn
He wishes that he hadn't e'er the coming of the morn.

Reddy Fox wished so with all his might. He wished that he had kept his tongue still about not being afraid to meet the strange creature that had given Peter Rabbit such a fright. When he had boasted that he wouldn't be afraid of it, but that if he should meet it he would stop to find all about it, he didn't have the least intention of doing anything of the kind. He was just idly boasting and nothing more. You see, Reddy is very fond of boasting. He is one of the greatest boasters in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows. He likes to strut around and talk big. But like most boasters he is a coward at heart.

Unc' Billy Possum knew this, and so he dared Reddy to go the next morning to the foot of the hill where Prickly Porky the Porcupine lives and where Peter Rabbit had had his strange adventure, and where Unc' Billy himself claimed to have seen the same strange creature without head, tail or legs which had so frightened Peter. Unc' Billy had said that he would be there himself up in a tree, where he could see whether Reddy really did come or not, and so there was nothing for Reddy to do but to go and make good his foolish boast if the strange creature should appear. You see a number of little people had heard him boast, and had heard Unc' Billy dare him, and he knew that if he didn't make good he would never hear the end of it, and would be called a coward by everybody.

Reddy didn't sleep at all well that afternoon, and when at dusk he started to hunt for his supper he found that he had lost his appetite. Instead of hunting he spent most of the night in trying to think of some good excuse for not appearing at Prickly Porky's hill at daybreak. But think as he would he couldn't think of a single excuse that would sound reasonable.

"If only Bowser the Hound wasn't chained up at night I would get him to chase me, and then I would have the very best kind of an excuse," thought he. But he knew that Bowser was chained. Nevertheless, he did go up to Farmer Brown's dooryard to make sure. It was just as he expected — Bowser was chained.

The time had come, and he must choose between making the boast good or being called a coward by everybody.

Reddy sneaked away without even a look at Farmer Brown's henhouse. He didn't see that the door had carelessly been left open, and even if he had it would have made no difference. He hadn't a bit of appetite. No, sir, Reddy Fox wouldn't have eaten the fattest chicken there if it had been right there before him. All he could think of was that queer story told by Peter Rabbit and Unc' Billy Possum and the scrape he had got himself into by his foolish boasting. He just wandered about restlessly waiting for daybreak and hoping that something would turn up to prevent him from going to Prickly Porky's hill. He didn't dare to tell old Granny Fox about it. He knew just what she would say. It seemed as though he could hear her sharp voice and the very words:

"Serves you right for boasting about something you don't know anything about. How many times have I told you that no good comes of boasting? A wise fox never goes near strange things until he has found out all about them. That is the only way to keep out of trouble and live to a ripe old age. Wisdom is nothing but knowledge, and a wise fox always knows what he is doing."

So Reddy wandered about all the long night. It seemed as if it never would pass, and yet he wished it would last forever. The more he thought about it the more afraid he grew. At last he saw the first beams from jolly, round, red Mr. Sun creeping through the Green Forest. The time had come and he must choose between making his boast good or being called a coward by everybody. Very, very slowly Reddy Fox began to walk toward the hill where Prickly Porky lives.

Don't Wait Until 21
One of the first things lots of young folks do when they reach 21 is to buy an insurance policy. Which is good, of course. But some of these young folk at 21 find they are not insurable . . . cannot get life insurance. That's not so good.
Occidental has a policy for children under 12 which makes sure they'll have enough insurance later. Best of all, at age 21 its face value jumps to 5 times as much . . . without any increase in premium . . . a $1,000 policy becomes $5,000! Have you a boy or girl under 12?

The Garden Column

Hot Weather Problems

Amateur gardeners who fall with Summer sowings of short harvest vegetables, and therefore go without them in the late Summer and Fall, have no one to blame but themselves, states James H. Burdett of the National Garden Bureau. The usual excuse for failure is the weather. Hot weather prevents germination, they say, or the sun burns up the seedlings. A few simple precautions can easily remove the danger from the heat. First, make drills a little deeper than you do in the Spring and soak the soil thoroughly by running the hose in the drill. Then cover the seed with the soil so porous that it cannot be baked to a crust or compacted by heavy rain. Loamy gardens with plenty of sand may not need a special soil for this Summer covering, but where there is any doubt prepare it by mixing peat moss, or some other form of humus, half and half with sand. Cover the seed with this, water well and keep moist until the seeds sprout.

This may require that the row be shaded until the seeds come up. A light mulch of dried grass clippings, straw or sawdust, strips of burlap, or a canopy of narrow boards held an inch above the soil by blocks to allow the air to circulate freely will provide the shade. This helps keep moisture in the soil, and lowers the temperature somewhat. The time for Summer sowing depends on the crop to be grown and the date when first freezing weather is expected. Sow each crop early enough to allow it to mature two or three weeks before the frost date. In the case of lettuce and other crops which dislike hot weather, use only the fast-growing earlier varieties and sow as late as possible, preferably after the turn of the season when nights are cooler and rains more frequent.

About Rock Gardens

The secret of a successful rock garden depends largely upon achieving the effect of a natural outcropping. This, in turn, depends upon one's ability to plant the rocks properly. Far too often rock gardens resemble rock piles. Often there are more rocks than plants, with the rocks pointing in every direction, states Dean Halliday of the General Press Association. A cardinal rule in making a rock garden is to have all the rocks point or dip in the same general direction. The stones used should be large enough so as not to shift out of position. Unstable rocks are treacherous. Incidentally, porous rocks are preferable to non-porous types.

An open hillside bank or sloping piece of ground is the ideal site for the rock garden. When it can be built near a pool, pond or stream of water a great deal of charm is added. A location having some full sun, some partial shade and some full shade would meet the requirements of most rock plants. While many plants prefer a sunny slope, for others it is too hot and dry. Partial shade can be provided by shadow from a small evergreen or shrub having a restricted root system.

Cultivation Methods

How much back-breaking cultivation does a vegetable garden require to obtain the best production? The answer contains many "ifs" and "buts." An attempt has been made to answer this question with experiments conducted by the Horticulture Division at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Agassiz, B.C. Many gardeners cultivate their vegetables just for the sake of being able to look at a freshly hoed or raked piece of ground. They may kill a few weeds but often cultivation is so frequent the weeds even do not have a chance to grow. In areas where the soil moisture does not reach the wilting point the results of some experiments indicate that over-cultivation is detrimental. As long as there is sufficient cultivation to kill the weeds, and it is not too deep, no harm is done. The experiments showed that with corn and tomatoes, maintaining a soil mulch to the depth of four inches reduced the yields of these two crops as compared with plots where the weeds were kept under control by cutting them off at the surface. With carrots, beets, onions, lettuce, spinach, cabbage and beans there was no difference in yield between deep cultivation and surface cultivation although again the soil moisture was higher in the deeply cultivated plots.

Hot Weather Growing

When the sun is bright and the day hot is a good time for applying 2-4-D to a number of pests which spoil the appearance of your lawn. Plantain, chickweed and dandelion as well as some other lawn nuisances can be eradicated speedily if a warm day is chosen to do the spraying. Then it is most effective, according to the experts. It also helps protect tender plants bordering on the lawn which might be injured or killed by blown spray if there is any wind while the spraying is taking place. A frequent mistake is made through becoming impatient when the results of spray applications are not apparent immediately, and a sound application is used. The second spraying is not necessary. Sometimes it takes several days before tough old dandelion roots wither. Two applications are recommended—one early in the Summer and another later on. The first spraying will do away with the old-timers and new arrivals will be killed with the second one.

Montreal Women's Symphony Will Present Friday Concert

This Week's Radio

Ethel Stark, leader of the Montreal Women's Symphony, is conducting a Summer concert Friday. The program will be carried on the C.B.C. Trans-Canada network from 5 to 5:30 p.m.

Miss Stark is the only woman conductor of an all-woman symphony orchestra on the North American continent. In existence since 1940, the Montreal Women's Symphony under her guidance has become one of the major Canadian symphonies.

As evidence of the position it now holds, it has been invited to tour the United States and will leave Montreal in the Autumn to make its first appearance in New York City. As a conductor, Ethel Stark also has the distinction of being the first woman to lead the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

Therese Deniset, Winnipeg soprano who has been living in Montreal since her return from France a year ago, will be the guest soloist with the Summer concert orchestra.

Madame Deniset will be heard in "Ballade of the King of Thule" from Gounod's Faust, "The Song of the Shepherd," and "Lehl."

The possible effects on human happiness of the uncontrolled release of atomic energy will be outlined in a broadcast by Bertrand Russell, English philosopher, on Tuesday.

His address is to be one in the series of radio talks called "Atomic Energy" broadcast over stations of the Trans-Canada network through the B.B.C. transcription service.

As a tribute to the hundreds of thousands of Canadians and Americans in the West who are of Scandinavian descent, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has planned a special broadcast from its Vancouver studios today at 10:30 p.m.

The occasion is to mark the annual Scandinavian Midsummer Festival at Seymour Pork. Featured performers will be the Bellman Male Chorus of Vancouver and the Svea Male Choir from Seattle.

Different ways in which families around the world spend their vacations are described in the current series called "Our Summer Holiday."

The Wednesday, June 25 broadcast in the series, at 1:48 p.m., will bring listeners an account of a holiday in the lake-studded hills around Nainital, India.

A Winnipeg studio this week will present an original radio play by the Vancouver writer Ab Anthony entitled "Black Alley."

It will be heard Friday from 8:30 to 9 p.m.

Mr. Anthony is a leading member of the "regulars" on the Vancouver Theatre and other dramatic programs from the Coast, and has frequently been seen in Vancouver Little Theatre.

His play takes the listener for a jaunt through back alleys of many cities. The incidents are not unusual, though they have a certain poignancy; young lovers who have nowhere to go, a young lady and an old lady both somewhat the worse for wear in a tavern, two high school girls hunting autographs at a stage door, and a lady who dreams of romance.

Three broadcasts describing the ceremonies at the Marian Congress will be heard today from Ottawa.

In an effort to stem the rising tide of divorces throughout Canada and the United States the Upper Room Society of the U.S.A. has produced a series of eight 15-minute radio broadcasts which will be carried by radio station CJVI.

Richard Batey, production manager of the station, reports this series—entitled "So You Want to Stay Married"—will commence on the night of June 30, starting at 8:45 p.m. The broadcasts will be carried as a public service, and will have no commercial sponsor.

A group of about 25 prominent Victoria citizens, including church dignitaries, Mayor Percy E. George, aldermen, municipal reeves, and heads of various public service organizations gathered at the station last week to hear a preview of the broadcasts.

"Everyone was impressed with the message and content of the program," Mr. Batey remarked. He hoped those attending the preview would tell their friends of the program series.

Railway Revenue Gains During May

MONTREAL, June 21 (CP). — An increase of $916,000 was reported in the net revenue for May of the Canadian National Railways all-inclusive system at $4,304,000, against $3,388,000 in the corresponding month of last year.

Operating revenues displayed an increase of $7,770,000, while operating expenses rose $6,854,000.

Cumulative net revenues for the five months of 1947 showed an increase of $1,591,000 at $13,559,000, while operating revenues expanded $20,295,000. Expenses grew at a faster pace, and were up $21,886,000.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP). — Wheat advanced under persistent buying attributed mainly to cash houses on the Board of Trade today. Feed grains were firm with the exception of July corn, which retreated under profit-taking.

Some of the buying in wheat was based on reports of rains in the harvest area.

At no time did the July corn delivery approach the record peak established yesterday. There appeared to be some switching from this delivery into deferred months. Trading in all pits was smaller than in recent sessions, although it expanded toward the close as prices advanced.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, June 21 (CP). — The United Kingdom took 800,000 bushels of wheat under the Canadian Wheat Agreement in the only export business reported on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Books and Authors

Great Britain, mountain climbing and Japanese prison camps seem to hold the major interest for the reading public in Australia.

Top four books now circulating Down Under are "The White Tower," "London Belongs to Me," "Britannia Mews," and "Behind Bamboo."

Richard Ullman's fine novel woven around an attempt to climb a high mountain gives some indication of how far behind in reading the Australians are. The "London" book and "Britannia Mews," are also old by Canadian standards. Both, of course, have British themes.

The fourth popular book, written by Rohan Rivell, is a detailed account of the sufferings of some Australian prisoners at the hands of the Japanese. With the exception of this one volume, war books lie untouched on the shelves.

Difficulty in obtaining new books lies in dollar exchange limits with the United States and unsettled shipping conditions to and from Great Britain.

Novels are still the most popular type of writing with Australians, and this trait extends well back beyond the war years.

Few Australians share the fondness of Canadians for curling up with a mystery thriller. One exception to this rule is Prime Minister Chifley, who invariably finds time on a week-end to sit down with several detective yarns and his tobacco and pipes.

* * *

Few authors can point to relationship with as many prominent people as Angela Thirkell, who has written 15 popular novels. Her father, Professor J. W. Mackail, of Oxford, was a great Latinist; her mother was a daughter of Burne-Jones, the pre-Raphaelite painter; she was a cousin of the great Kipling and Stanley Baldwin; her brother, Denis Mackail, is noted for many light and amusing novels.

Author-explorer Peter Fleming, who has been receiving great praise for his recent work, last week suffered a pelvis fracture when he was thrown by his horse. Mrs. Fleming reported that he lay in the woods three hours before he was found. She is the British film star Celia Johnson.

Jottings—John Gunther, who has roamed Europe, Asia and South America to report to his public through books such as "Inside Europe," was terribly excited about a trip he made recently. "I've been to Boston," he said . . . "The Story of Mrs. Murphy," by Natalie Anderson Scott, is the July selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club. . . . Book dividend with it is another of the famous historical novels of Kenneth Roberts, "Lydia Bailey." . . . Miss Scott, who was born in Ekaterinoslav, Russia, did a great deal of traveling as a youngster and learned English in Great Britain. . . . The late Ernie Pyle, who became famous for his war reporting, did some fine writing before the war in his "Home Country" column. These columns, about things he saw and people he met in the United States, are now appearing in a book of the same name.

Current Reviews

"Secret Passage," by Betty Cavanna. John C. Winston Company, Ltd. $2.50.

Some authors writing for children, never quite see their story through a child's eye. To some extent, Mrs. Cavanna, author of "Secret Passage," suffers from this shortcoming.

Ostensibly written for 10 to 15-year-old girls, the plot is a little thin even for this age group and the language and some of the concepts would require a mental and historical background considerably more advanced than this reviewer had achieved at that age.

The author's own home town, Haddenfield, N.J., is used as the setting for the tale, which covers the adventures of two young Quaker girls in the days just before the American Civil War.

The text is interspersed with some lively ink drawings by Jean MacLaughlin.—M.M.

"One Hundred Stories for Boys," by Arthur Wallace; Ryerson Press. $2.00.

A series of short, inspirational stories on incidents in the lives of great figures in history, this volume is excellent reading for boys not yet in their teens.

Each story has been constructed in an extremely simple, yet interesting style, and each stresses, in subtle fashion, a moral for youngsters.

The topics are varied, and include pen portraits of great writers, doctors, scientists, explorers, missionaries, statesmen and sportsmen. —J.O'C.

"From Storm to Storm," by H. G. Scott, Sun Publishing Company.

A fresh approach to an understanding of the troubled conditions and bitter hatreds that plagued Europe between the wars is presented in H. G. Scott's "From Storm to Storm," a sort of combination history-travelogue in which the author sets down his own observations about most of the Continental countries he visited as a newspaperman during the uneasy years of peace. Although Mr. Scott travelled as a press representative, he was by training a lawyer and by practice an Alberta police magistrate and he records both his own experiences and his political impressions with some objectivity. Because he was interested in studying policing methods in other countries he made a point of always visiting police headquarters and thus was given access to many sources of information another traveller might miss.

Mr. Scott, who now lives on North Pender Island in the Strait of Georgia, first saw Europe as a soldier in the Canadian Expeditionary Force during the Great War. In succeeding years he visited the Ruhr during its occupation by the French, Yugoslavia during the dictatorship of King Alexander, Poland caught between Slav and Teuton fire as early as 1930, Germany just as the revived arrogance of the Nazis was nearing its height, Spain during the civil war and Czechoslovakia just before its tragic "peace in our time" episode.

Writing of these sojourns, and others, he mixes his personal experiences with things he saw as significant political trends and comes out with a fairly interesting and informative piece of work. It is only when he indulges in a habit of referring to important people he encounters without naming them—"one of two brothers in the service of the British Foreign Office," for example—and when he uses some rather harsh adjectives to describe the unfortunate failure of the League of Nations, that one is apt to get a little annoyed.—D.T.

"My Name Is Christopher Nagel," by C. W. Grafton (Oxford University Press) $3.00.

C. W. Grafton's new novel "My Name Is Christopher Nagel" is the story of a small town American boy who sets out in life to be a surgeon but is diverted from his course by his own athletic prowess. Christy Nagel himself conducts the narrative in the first person and does a good, interest-holding job from the time he pitched a no-hitter in school until he starred on the college freshman football team and married the dean's daughter under not too plausible circumstances.

If Mr. Grafton's book had a motive other than the fact that he wanted to write fiction it was probably a desire to say something about U.S. college athletics. Christy Nagel had a brain and a determination to be a surgeon. But after his no-hitter he was scouted and eventually induced to go to a larger school than he desired. He devoted so much time to sport and to enjoying the adulation that comes to a hero in that realm, and so little to study, that at the end of his first term his scholastic record forced him to change to an easier course.—D.T.

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The Dunn & Bradstreet wholesale food price index moved upward on June 17 for the fourth consecutive week, rising 12c to $6.24, the highest point reached since April 15. The index, which represents the sum total of the price per pound of 31 foods in general use in the United States, stood at $4.35 on the corresponding date a year ago.

Glimmer and Shimmer — Hollywood

Production of Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" is now under way at the J Arthur Rank studios in England Apart from producing and acting the title role, he is working out many camera and sound effect innovations

• • •

When Mr Rank was in Toronto recently he told the press his theatrical empire was willing to make a picture with a Canadian locale "if suitable story material could be found." He added, however, there were no immediate plans for Canadian shooting

Eagle-Lion one segment of the Rank organization, a part that is shared in part by American ownership and which was the opening wedge for British films on the American market, has announced it will make a picture in Canada to be called "Rainbow Bridge."

The picture will be filmed in cinecolor and will feature Canada's outdoors, some of which will be filmed presumably around Niagara Falls. Negotiations are under way to use the Duke of Windsor's High River, Alta., ranch and the Calgary stampede to be held July 7 to 10 will provide background material

James Craig who recently completed a role in "Texas Story," will have a leading part, and the epic will be directed by Albert S. Rogell A budget of $2,000,000 has been laid on by Eagle-Lion.

Rank is planning to use a number of top-drawer American stars in upcoming British pictures Bing Crosby has been signed for at least one and James Mason is being wooed back to the Lion's den With more American theatres contracted to show British films familiar American faces will do no harm at all to the box office receipts

Joan Bennett and Robert Ryan are soon to be seen in a new film entitled "The Woman on the Beach," with Charles Bickford adding to the quality cast Irene Ryan, who did an excellent job as the scullery maid in "Diary of a Chambermaid," will play a new type of role She will depict a young mother and will have opportunity to further exploit her acting abilities

Reports from New York are murmuring nice things about a Bowmanville, Ont girl, 21-year-old Ruth Hutchinson, who has her course set for the Broadway drama factories She starred in the Canadian Army show unit overseas and when discharged went to dramatic school in New York She is considering the use of "Liz Miller" as a stage name.

The announcement that Columbia has signed four champion swimmers to join Buster Crabbe in a 15-instalment saga called "The Sea Hound" is enough to whisk one back in memory to the days of Ruth Roland and Pearl White

Who can forget the rootin', tootin' Western serials with "the good guy living through mine disasters, plunges through rapids and the stampedes of wild horses? And the sweet-faced heroine, who spent more time in blazing infernos than a grade A fireman . . . and who invariably won her man in the very last reel of the very last chapter"

It could be the influence of the English success, "Henry V," or maybe it's just a good idea, but M G M is putting on one of its most ambitious efforts in the production of "Joan of Lorraine"

Ingrid Bergman will play Joan of Arc

It is expected four months will be required to complete the shooting

Hundreds of extras will be engaged in the battle scene to be filmed in California's San Fernando Valley

A special suit of armor, constructed of magnesium has been designed for Bergman, and authentic dresses of the period are being made by a battery of seamstresses

Add Two Diseases For Compensation

The British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board has added two further diseases to the schedule of occupational ailments for which workers are eligible for compensation.

They are Bronchial asthma contracted through any process in which there is direct exposure to the drug useful for the condition or vegetable dust in handling grain, feathers or wool; and dermatitis contracted through any process involving use of irritant substances in the hairdressing industry.

Why Medicine Is Still Used

By DR. J. B. WARREN

Every physician would be pleased to do without drugs, but he knows that the strain on a patient who needs relief from pain or other conditions will do him more harm than the drug useful for the condition present. A sprained joint needs rest as also an overactive intestine. Drugs to "slow down" and rest these organs is therefore prescribed. The pain of cancer, a severe burn, intense grief require a quieting drug.

Don't hesitate to use a drug if your physician advises it.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"I RECKON"

As recently as a generation ago a fertile field for the jokster and the caricaturist was the backwardness of the farmer or countryman, the hayseed depicted as chewing on a straw and saying more often than not "I reckon."

And the use of "reckon" for I believe or I consider or I conclude is generally regarded, when used in this way as an ungrammatical colloquialism, a bit of backwoods Americana and corruption of a word meaning to figure in the sense of to count. Quite the contrary is true.

First, as to the etymology of the word, the sense of to count as numbers, goes hand in hand with the larger sense of to consider. Derived from the Old English rekenen, which is rooted in the Anglo-Saxon gerecenian, meaning "to explain" or "to order," its original sense seems to have been "to bring together" and so "to count," but also to consider in a larger sense than the arithmetical alone.

And now for its history thus Am[illegible]for I think I conclude in Romans: During 1946 [illegible] and [illegible] to run the gamut [illegible] the Bible of the present time are [illegible] Among other examples [illegible] I reckon.

The priest should reckon [illegible] the money.

Again a [illegible] in Ezekiel.

They shall reckon [illegible] days.

But then to reckon is to consider [illegible] like.

He was reckoned among the transgressors.

W I L play in the past week has been devoted to the "sponge" of the league doctrine. Wenatchee Chief and the sudden slump of the hitherto almost invincible Bremerton Bluejackets.

Last night Buddy Ryan's stalwarts upset the Vancouver Capilanos 8-2 for their fourth win in their last five starts and kept the Caps in the edging into the first division by one point the Yakima Athletics who once more took it on the nose at Salem, this time 8-3.

Meanwhile, Spokane Indians handed Bremerton their fifth straight setback, 7-6, to creep within one game and a half of first place.

Athletics who end a disastrous road trip today with a double header at Salem before returning home for a 12-game stand starting tomorrow again saw home runs ruin their chances.

Salem took a two-run lead in the first inning on Spurgeon's single, Moore's double and a single by Kubiak. Eddie Bell also acquired from Wenatchee joined a two-run homer in the fourth to give them a 4-0 lead.

Victoria got back into the game momentarily in the sixth when they scored all of their runs with doubles by Hooper and Harshman and an error doing the bulk of the damage.

However they lost an chance in the Salem half of the same inning when Dick Smovic, Senator right-hander cracked out a three-run circuit blow in a pinch-hitting role to highlight a four-run outburst. Smovic then took the mound and blanked the A's for the rest of the distance.

U.S. Golf Champion After Second Title

Lew Worsham Threatens to Take P.G.A. Meet—Brilliant in Three Match Rounds

DETROIT, June 21 (AP).—Lew Worsham of Pittsburgh, Pa., today was a definite threat to become the first man in a quarter-century to win both the National Open and P.G.A. Golf Championships the same year.

The 28-year-old newcomer to the big time ranks who last week won the open at St. Louis, led seven other survivors of a starting field of 64 into the quarter-finals of the P.G.A. tournament today and I was not almost ready to bet that he'd still be in their ranks Tuesday when the title goes on the line.

Byron Nelson, 1922 and a 29-year old Canadian Sarazen, who won the P.G.A. last year, have yet to ... but ... has yet ... to ... bowed out of the running today, ending his quest for a fourth P.G.A. championship.

Worsham moved into the favorite's role as a result of the wide margins by which he crushed three match-play opponents. Yesterday he ousted John Morris of Montgomery, Ala., by 4 and 3 and Clarence Doser of Hartsdale, N.Y., by 5 and 4. ... Lewis ... up a ... 6 and 5 ... Ernie ... Reese ... Mich., by 7 ... and 6 in a 36-hole ...

The ... yesterday of the ... champion Ben ... Metz ... Jimmy Demaret.

South African Champion Bobby Locke, and Sammy Sam Snead ... didn't ... the cuff today. More ... than 10,000 gallerygoers were on hand ... boosting the four-day attendance to around 32,000.

Tomorrow's matches will be at 36 holes with Monday's semi-finals and Tuesday's championship clash over 18 more holes.

Out of a round of surprises today emerged such ... as Vic Ghezzi, 1941 P.G.A. champion and Lloyd Mangrum, the 1946 National Open king, as the chief threats to Worsham, but ... the double crown.

Still in the hunt are Jim Ferrier, former Australian, Ky Laffoon, Art Wall, Chick Harbert and ... Lehner.

Navy Takes Premier Crew Event

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., June 21 (AP).—Navy's big crew barely beat off a desperate challenge by Cornell today to win the 45th Poughkeepsie Regatta, revived in all its glory after a wartime lapse of six years.

Together the two Eastern eights ended Western domination of the race. Washington, winner the last time the regatta was held in 1941, was third, a good length behind Cornell. California was fourth, three-quarters of a length behind the Big Reds.

Cornell drew up on Navy at the finish with a powerful, steady 36 that forced Navy up to an almost incredible 42.

The winning time was 13:59.2 far ... slower ... than the record set by Navy for three miles in 1922, 13:33.6.

Not since 1938 has an Eastern crew won here and it was Navy then that did it.

All of the participants in the race, minus the champion Navy eight and Rutgers, leave Sunday for the Seattle 2,000-meter race next Saturday. Yale and Harvard will also join the expedition. The Navy crews go to sea at once for their customary training and the Rutgers Varsity eight is making a tour of Holland.

Annual ... das games will be held at Burnside Lawn Bowling Green today. Three eight-end games are scheduled. Entries close at 2 p.m. with draw to be made 15 minutes later. All bowlers will be welcome.

Assault Top Turf Winner

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP).—Assault ran home by four lengths today to become the greatest money-winner racing has ever seen.

It was strictly murder that the Terror from Texas committed at Aqueduct today for the benefit of 33,634 paying customers, in spite of the 133 pounds on his back.

This mile and a quarter was worth $38,110 to the galloper who won. Putting that on top of the bank account he had piled up previously in his three seasons of racing of Bold Venture and the puny mare, Igual, skyrocketed his earnings to $576,670 compared with Whirlaway's $561,161.

"Y" Tracksters Set for Meet

Twenty men and women track and field stars have been picked by Coach Bruce Humber to represent the YMCA in the annual Vancouver Police Mutual Benefit Association meet on July 1, when top athletes from various points in the Pacific Northwest vie for honors.

Humber and Y Physical Director Archie McKinnon rate the team a good chance to cop some of the laurels despite the continued lack of a suitable cinder track here for proper training for events such as the Moncland meet.

Local hopefuls in the senior ... and 220 will be Harry Mitchell and Jim McKellar with Jim Isherwood carrying the mail in the 220 and 440. Competing in the 440 and 880 will be Jim Mill, recent winner in the inter-high meet, and Irvin Young with Bill Turkington and Al McKinnon also slated to enter the events.

Mile run specialist, Cliff Balmond, is entered in that event and Don Wilson will aim for the pole-vaulting laurels.

Elaine Silburn, leading woman sprinter who took two events in the recent New Westminster meet with ... the fair sex contingent Running ... the 100 will be Silburn, Margaret Robertson and Doreen Pullin and Emmy Kaltenback while Miss Silburn and Pat Fleming will compete in the high jump.

Rafael Duke and Don McNeil, University School students will run for the Y in the junior 100-yard and 220 senior events. Coaches Humber and McKinnon will make the trip with the team.

SAANICH CLUB TO MEET

A meeting of the Saanich Athletic Club will be held at 3221 Millgrove Street today at 7 p.m. All last year's members and others interested are requested to attend.

Second-Half Rally Gives United Cup Soccer Win

Four goals in nine minutes lifted Victoria United into the second round of the Connaught Cup playdowns when they ousted a fighting Norquay eleven, 4-2, before 700 fans at Macdonald Park last night. Score at the breather was 2-0 for Norquay.

Visitors played heads-up, nippy soccer in the first canto, but appeared to tire and fell to pieces in the last period.

Norquay won the toss and elected to kick with the sun and wind. As a result they faced a setting sun all through the second half and misjudged the ball repeatedly.

The contest was five minutes old when Jack Francis took a blocked ... of Russ Hendricks' cross and rapped it past Moss to give Norquay the lead. Fifteen minutes later Hugh McAuley made it 2-0 by taking a relay of another Hendricks' ... from Francis to catch Moss unprotected.

United replaced Ken Druce with Nip Sage at half time and switched Art Young to fullback. The revamped lineup worked well.

Joe Travis started the landslide with a well-taken spot kick awarded for hands against Mathewson. Five minutes later Tom Druce rammed Ab Travis' rebound past Garney Smith to knot the count. Ab Travis scored the last two United counters, one from Sage's corner and the other from Sage's pass.

Play grew ragged in the final half hour with Victoria content to defend a lead and Norquay unable to ... title down to the dash they showed in the first half. Sage Hepperstall and Marcus Speiser came close to adding to the United lead and at the other end Moss had to be spectacular to clear from Dave Kent.

Lineup:

Victoria United: Moss, Rennie, ... K. Druce, M. Speiller, J. Travis and McMillan; Barnswell, Hepperstall, T. Druce, A. Travis and A. Young. Subs: Sage and Popkin.

Norquay: G. Smith; C. Hendricks, C. Mathewson; A. Hendricks, D. DeSilva, R. Corrigan; R. Hendricks, L. Roberts, J. Francis, D. Kent and H. McAuley. Subs: R. Woods and D. Dougan.

Prior Pitches One-Hit Game; Vets Take Two

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L
Eagles	15	4
Legion	11	7
Pixer and Nex	6	10
Navy	3	15

The fair crowd of fans on hand yesterday for both afternoon and evening senior amateur baseball games at Royal Athletic Park saw Canadian Legion take two fixtures to close the gap between themselves and the league-leading Eagles to three and one-half games.

Behind the one-hit twirling of Bill Prior, the veterans took a close afternoon contest from Navy 3-1. In the evening they opened up their ... attack to take Pixer and ... champs to the tune of 13-3. ... veteran Fred Cann headed forth on the mound.

In chalking up his first victory since leaving the professional Athletics, Prior breezed a third strike past 10 Navy batters and faced only 32 men during the nine innings. He walked three and gave up his lone hit in the fourth inning to Mel Padgett. The bingle sent DeCosta, who had walked, to third, from where he scored Navy's lone counter on a fielder's choice.

Little Jeff Worrell, who toiled again for Sailors pitched one of his best games of the season in going down to defeat. He allowed only two earned runs, one of them coming in on Jack Walker's triple.

Walker was one of the hitting stars for Legion in the nightcap with three hits which drove in two runs.

Cann in setting the Gasmen down with six hits and whiffing 10, aided his own cause by knocking out a triple.

Smart fielding featured the game with Don Robinson, Pitzer and Nex Chetpatcher, and Rookie Wright, Legion third-sacker, handling nine and eight chances, respectively, in spectacular fashion. Wright started two double plays for winners.

Tomorrow's game at the same park pits Gasmen against the Eagles.

Anglers Set Meeting

A meeting of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association will be held at the Boilermakers' Hall, Government Street, at 8 p.m. tomorrow. A number of movie shorts will be shown prior to the business meeting.

Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans' Association softball team, present leaders of Division One in the senior "B" men's section, will oppose Ladysmith Canadian Legion in a double-header at Central Park, today at 2 and 5:30 p.m.

Teams split a double-header at Ladysmith recently. Pitching for the local team will be Jack Elliott and Fred Jones. The later recently won a victory with Vets team in the senior "A" loop.

Aussies, Yanks Net Favorites

LONDON, June 21 (AP).—Wimbledon's All-English tennis championships open Monday with a League of Nations entry list, but there isn't a court follower anywhere who won't predict it will wind up as a private affair between the Americans and Australians.

The Australians, United States victims last Winter of the worst defeat ever dealt a Davis Cup team in the challenge round, definitely haven't forgotten it. They openly are hoping to open wounds at Wimbledon in which they can probe later during the Davis Cup renewal.

Three Americans—Jack Kramer, of Los Angeles; Tom Brown of San Francisco and Lexington, and ... Jr., crowd Australians ... Bromwich. Jimmy Pails and Geoff Brown, ... of the eight favored Wimbledon ... with Kramer ranked No. 1 and Bromwich, No. 2.

Britain, which didn't place a second male in the top eight, mustered auxiliary forces from its Empire in hopes of beating off the American threat in women's play.

Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, turned pro recently and thus won't be back to defend her title.

Nevertheless, the top four seedings went to Americans with Margaret Osborne, of San Francisco, No. 1; Miss Louise Brough, second; Doris Hart, of Miami, third and Mrs. Pat Canning Todd of Hidden Valley, Cal., fourth. Nancy Bolton of Australia, Mrs. Kay Stammers, Menzies, of England, Mrs. S. P. Summers of South Africa and Mrs. Jean Bostock of England, follow in that order.

New York Yankees Sweep Bill From Detroit to Add to Lead

New York Yankees added a half-game to their American League lead yesterday by twice whipping the Detroit Tigers, 5-4 and 7-4, while Boston's runner-up Red Sox handed Cleveland and Bob Feller a 9-1 trouncing.

Spud Chandler and Ade Reynolds chalked up the victories for the Bronx Bombers. The twin reverse plummetted the Tigers to fourth place and moved Philadelphia to third spot despite the fact the Athletics lost an 11-inning 6-2 decision to Chicago White Sox.

Righthander Joe Dobson recorded his eighth win for the Red Sox who sent Feller to an early shower with two four-run rallies. Bobby Doerr belted a grand slam home run and Sam Mele connected for another circuit blow with two aboard to pace the winners.

Sherry Robertson's pinch single with the bases loaded in the ninth gave Washington a 4-3 verdict over St. Louis Browns.

Boston Braves extended their National League lead slightly by turning back Chicago Cubs 5-1 but all eyes in the senior circuit were on the rampaging Cardinals who downed the Giants 11-5 for their ninth straight win.

The New York loss moved Brooklyn into the runner-up berth. The Dodgers squeezed by Cincinnati 6-5. Dutch Leonard, veteran knuckle-baller, kept the Philadelphia Phillies out of the cellar by scattering eight Pittsburgh hits for a 5-1 triumph in the other game.

Chinese Driver Spills at Langford

Bung Eng, Chinese racing car driver, had a narrow escape when his speeding racer crashed into two other cars and turned over at the start of the main event during the action-packed auto racing card at Langford Speedway last night.

When the dust had cleared it was found that Eng suffered a broken arm. His car, however, was badly smashed.

"Pike" Green, driving George Haslam's No. 6 car, drove a cool, steady race, and won the 30-lap feature attraction, after "Digger" Caldwell, Victoria ace, developed engine trouble about half way through and was forced to the sidelines. Dave Cooper and Jerry Vantreight placed second and third, respectively.

Another accident also occured on the track during the fourth heat race when Ros Vincent, driving Stewart Peoples No. 2 machine, lost control and crashed into a high post. Vincent was taken up for treatment.

Del Fanning, Seattle, won the helmet dash and was presented with the Jimmy Laird Trophy which was won last week by Howard Stanley. "Digger" Caldwell and Ken McMurray placed second and third, respectively.

During the first heat race Caldwell came back to take top honors after taking a nice lead. Ken McMurray and Howard Stanley placed second and third.

Eng's accident occurred on the south turn when Jack Patterson spun out, Wild Bill Anderson, from Oakland trying to avoid an accident with Patterson, spun out and Eng crashed into Anderson's car, rolling over the tail and crashing through the fence.

A match race between Del Fanning and Digger Caldwell was won by Fanning.

The second heat was won by Del Fanning, the third heat by Bung Eng and the fourth heat by Dave Cooper.

Unsteady Hurling, Errors Offset A's Heavy Hitting

Although a great many of their supporters feel that the club has enough good players to win the W.I.L. pennant or be a close contender, Victoria Athletics seem unable to play consistent enough baseball to become a threat and the big question among Victoria fans is why?

A glance at the latest Howe News statistics fails to disclose the answer. The Victoria club is second in team batting. They lead the league in runs, total bases, doubles, triples, home runs, stolen bases and runs scored for almost a clean sweep on the offensive side.

The answer, therefore, must lie on the defensive end of the game and figures do prove this to a point. The club is fourth in team fielding and only Yakima, Wenatchee and Spokane have made more errors. However the A's are second in double plays and the fielding discrepancy between them and the top clubs provides only part of the solution.

A look at the pitching records goes further. Only Max Hittle and Joe Blankenship among the seven hurlers now on the staff are over the .500 mark and they are only one game over. Four others have lifetime buckets while Len Knaporowich is still one game shy of an even break.

In spite this to close followers of the team, the big trouble that the local representatives are not closer to the pace is the inconsistency which is usually prevalent on young clubs. Victoria errors both mental and physical have cropped up in close games to turn the tide and the pitching has not been steady enough to win a fair share of the games when the opposing club was getting good hurling.

Delving further, the Victoria batting line-up has not been hitting together and the batting leaders have been holding their averages up with big nights at the plate, which have too often been followed by a hitless night when a timely base hit would have won a game.

There is also a definite weakness in the bottom of the order. John Cavalli has been a big disappointment. Leo Righetti is at least 50 points below what he should be and hustling Frank Lucchesi is not batting too well. Cavalli has managed to collect only 12 hits in his last 85 trips to the plate. Righetti has but four safe bingles to show for his last 34 attempts and Lucchesi has made but 7 hits in his last 47 appearances.

The huge collection of 125 errors in the first 65 games have been made by players in positions where errors should not be so prevalent. However the A's are second in The catching staff has been charged with 16 miscues and 13 passed balls. Twelve of the errors have been charged to Vic Maestro. Outfielders have been responsible for 22 bobbles and have been guilty of too many throws to the wrong bases while First-baseman Jack Harshman has erred 14 times.

Helsinki Gets 1952 Olympiad

STOCKHOLM, June 21 (AP).—Helsinki, defied the 1940 Olympics by the outbreak of World War II, will be host to the 1952 games with Norway's capital, Oslo, getting the winter games.

Those two sites were determined today at the final session of the International Olympic Committee a session that found five U.S. cities fighting for the 1952 honors and dividing the American support.

J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Sweden president of the I.O.C., made the announcement at a news conference that followed a secret hour and a half debate which was so warm that once Prince Axel of Denmark shed his royal coat in the midst of his plea for Helsinki.

Edstrom announced only that the Finnish capital and Oslo had been chosen. From other sources it was learned that Helsinki received 14 of the 28 votes on the first ballot while Los Angeles and Minneapolis tied for second with four each.

On the second vote Helsinki had gained the decisive fifteenth supporter while Minneapolis and Los Angeles again were tied, this time a five each. Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia also sought the game.

England Makes Great Opening

LONDON, June 21 (Reuters). — Today was heartbreak day for South Africa's bowlers, whose only successes in the first day of their second 1947 test match with England were England's opening pair, Len Hutton and Cyril Washbrook.

Hutton and Washbrook tamed the bowling by stolid batting. When the first wicket fell with the score at 75 Hutton had hit only 18, and Washbrook succumbed after scoring 65—96 for two wickets.

This brought the Middlesex "twins" — a title earned by many excellent performances for their county and country—Denis Compton and Bill Edrich together. At close of play they were still at the wicket and within 29 runs of England's third wicket record—245.

The first match of the five game series was drawn.

Five C's, Incogs, Oak Bay Win in Cricket Matches

Five C's extended their unbeaten streak in league play in the Victoria and District Cricket Association by defeating Navy by the large margin of 126 to 18 in a match at Naden yesterday.

The C's batted first with Grimm and George Payne hitting up 54 and 25 runs, respectively, to lead the way to a comfortable total. Navy found the bowling of Hepworth deadly and in less than an hour the side was retired. Hepworth had the fine average of six wickets for 7 runs.

The other two matches also were easy victories for University Incogs and Oak Bay.

In their match at Windsor Park, Incogs, who batted first, ran up a total of 164 runs for the loss of six wickets before declaring while hitting the Ex-R.A.F. side to 77 runs.

Jack Thorner who captains the ex-flyers, and W. Dalziel of Incogs, treated spectators to some lively hitting to score 51 and 49 runs respectively. Morant bowled well for Incogs, taking seven wickets for 14 runs.

At Macdonald Park, Oak Bay defeated Albions, 118 runs to 53, with Jack Sparks hitting up 37 runs before retiring. Scott also retired with 21. In all, Albions were able to take only three Oak Bay wickets. Besides batting well, Sparks took five Albion wickets for 17 runs.

Well-Known Athlete Returns to Victoria

Ex-English Rugby player here with the Fifth Regiment team a number of years ago, Roy Gaunt has returned to the city. A member of a well-known Victoria athletic family, Gaunt left the city 17 years ago to play professional Rugby with the Rochdale Hornets, of the Northern Rugby Union. A brother, Sid Gaunt, who returned some time ago, also played with the Hornets for several years.

Roy spent seven years with the team before having to put away his togs due to a serious injury. During the war he was sent to Ceylon where he took up a position with the British Admiralty. He returned to England last December.

Just two days before sailing for Canada R.F. was married. His bride is expected to join him here shortly.

AT GRAY'S YOU SAVE
A large number of our friends and customers have asked us why we are moving when we are so busy down here that we could handle no more business no matter where we were. Well, frills often we don't go in the used furniture trade we made ourselves that promises. The first was to sell our goods at as low a price as possible by maintaining a large turnover, the second was to always keep our costs at least reasonable. The first promise we have kept, but in keeping it we found ourselves carrying so much furniture that it was impossible to keep the other promise and our store always looked like a Hurricane had hit it. So now our location at 1634 enables separate workshop and warehouse space. So our store will be always tidy.

Vancouver Island News

From Colonist Correspondents

Visitor Sees Bright Prospects For Canada's Poultry Industry

SAANICHTON, June 21.—Contacting representative Vancouver Island poultrymen during his recent visit to the Dominion Experimental Station here, H. S. Gutteridge, acting Dominion Poultry Husbandman, sounded an optimistic note regarding the future of the poultry industry.

While no one could foresee what the future holds, Mr. Gutteridge said, an unlimited market existed at present for poultry products in Britain. Contracts were already drawn and as long as the quality was acceptable to the British consumer, prospects would continue bright for Canadian poultrymen.

Accompanied on the trip by E. R. Hall, assistant superintendent and R. A. Sansbury, head poultryman at the Saanichton station, Mr. Gutteridge had an opportunity to meet leading poultrymen here, and at Cowichan, Chemainus, Nanaimo, Qualicum and Courtenay to discuss problems. Conversant with poultry conditions across Canada, the Ottawa poultryman was impressed with the low capital outlay in the temperate climate of Vancouver Island, compared with that required in other parts of the Dominion.

Despite the high prices that Vancouver Island poultrymen have to pay for feed, Mr. Gutteridge felt that this was balanced by their low housing costs.

Mr. Gutteridge was shown how Island poultrymen were preparing to capitalize on the present meat shortage. In some areas, dairy barns are being converted into poultry-producing units, and some "double-decker" poultry houses are being built. One poultryman alone will be producing 10,000 2-pound broilers every ten weeks.

Turkey raising also is on the increase, one breeder in the Courtenay district having an estimated annual output of 20,000 poults.

Gifts Presented To Harry Bellamy

PORT ALBERNI, June 21.—Closing 29 years of service with the Dominion Government telegraph office at Uchucklesit, Harry Bellamy was honored on retirement by his fellow citizens at a dinner party.

Fifty-six persons sat down to gaily decorated tables and during the evening several addresses were made paying tribute to the faithful service of Mr. Bellamy over so many years, and to the loyal assistance given to him by Mrs. Bellamy who also was an honored guest.

James Scott, an old-time resident, made the presentation of a pressure cooker to Mr. Bellamy on behalf of his fellow-workers at the telegraph office. In addition, a substantial cheque was presented to Mr. Bellamy.

Plane Aids Sailor At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, June 21.—A young officer from a freighter on call here nearly got left behind yesterday.

The officer overstayed his time at the Seamen's Haven and found to his consternation that his ship had sailed without him.

Waterfront services were canvassed for speedboats but none were available at the time. Finally Jack Moul of Port Alberni Airways brought a plane from Sproat Lake, picked up the stranded sailor and flew him to Bamfield, where he was able to rejoin his boat. The freighter had left here at 5 p.m. and the officer was aboard by 7 p.m.

First of Homes To Be Ready Before August

LAKE COWICHAN, June 21. — First of the 200 planned homes to be erected on the new townsite here will be completed and ready for occupancy before the end of July. Land has been cleared and graded for the houses to be built under the Federal Government's wartime housing scheme by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

According to plans recently released, the 28 acres of the townsite, overlooking Lake Cowichan, will be turned into a garden city as the natural beauties will be enhanced by planted trees and flowering shrubs along the boulevards and sidewalks. There will be park-like reservations providing space for children's playgrounds.

It is hoped that 100 of the 200 planned homes will be completed before the end of this year.

Rev. J. J. Nixon Dies in Duncan

DUNCAN, June 21.—Rev. J. J. Nixon, United Church minister well known in British Columbia, died at his home on Coronation Avenue on Friday morning.

Two Supervisors For Playgrounds

PORT ALBERNI, June 21.—For the first time in the history of this district, playground supervisors have been appointed for the Summer season.

Mrs. B. McDonough of the high school staff and Mrs. V. Smith of the elementary school staff, Port Alberni, have been chosen.

Games and handicraft will be taught to the children and each playground will have at least one project at the Fall fair. Elements of sport and sportsmanship also will be taught.

According to Culbertson - - - - -

(Copyright, 1947, by Ely Culbertson)

It is sometimes tempting to shade the requirements for an opening two-bid, and that may be all right if the following bidding is handled conservatively. Consider this case:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K 9 6 5
♥ J 6 3
♦ Q J 9 4
♣ J 7

WEST
♠ A Q 7 2
♥ 10 4
♦ K 7 6 2
♣ 9 8 5

EAST
♠ 10 4 3
♥ 9 7
♦ 10 5 3
♣ A 6 4 3 2

SOUTH
♠ J 8
♥ A K Q 8 5 2
♦ A 8
♣ K Q 10

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's hand, containing only four-plus honor-tricks and more than five losers, did not conform to the specifications for an opening two-bid.

North's holding technically warranted a "positive" response, but in the absence of an ace, North wisely exercised the option of first bidding the negative two no trump.

On the next round, however, North tried to show—as he had every right to do—that he had a very fair hand. The trouble was that South did not read his partner's two bids correctly. After the first response, it was inconceivable that there should be a slam in the hand; therefore South should have accepted the four no-trump contract rather than persist to even five hearts. South's distribution was not at all bad for no trump, and there was always the risk that if he bid five hearts North might fall for the temptation of bidding a slam.

As a matter of fact, North could not have been greatly criticized if he had gone to six hearts, because if South really had a two-bid and the hands fit well enough, twelve tricks might be either iron-clad or depend on no worse than an even money finesse or break. One thing is sure: North must have felt when he passed to five hearts that the rubber was "in the bag."

North could have made four no trump, whereas South went down one at five hearts, losing one spade, one diamond and one club.

Uplands Homes Entered By Pussy-Footing Thief

Oak Bay's "cat burglar" has been at work again.

The pussy-footing thief entered three houses Friday night in the Uplands district while the occupants slept peacefully on. He departed as swiftly and as silently as he had entered, through windows left open for air.

His night's work, however, was far from lucrative. The total haul, according to Oak Bay Police Chief H. C. F. Reston, amounting to only a handful of small change taken from a purse.

Houses entered were those of W. M. Patterson, 3325 Upper Terrace; Lady Anne C. Coll, 3460 Upper Terrace, and Captain T. H. Evans, 2486 Cardigan Road. The money was stolen from the Evans home. Nothing was reported missing from the other two residences.

This occasion was the second on which a daring burglar had entered an Oak Bay home while the occupants were asleep. A few weeks ago a "cat burglar" stole a pair of trousers, containing $200, and some costume jewelry from a residence in the same area.

Trim Freighter Brings Large Cargo

—Colonist Photo.

A THREATENED shortage of British chinaware in this city was averted yesterday when a large shipment was unloaded from the Furness Line's trim freighter Ss. Pacific Exporter. The 10,000-ton vessel is pictured above at Ogden Point docks. Under the command of Capt. R. Holland, the ship arrived here from the United Kingdom with a general cargo which included china, automobiles, household effects, liquor, rugs and glassware.

At the easterly pier of Ogden Point docks yesterday morning was the United States vessel John G. Carlisle, here from Japan to pick up a large cargo of lumber destined for Australia.

Vice-President Travels West In "Track Car"

In railway language, traveling by track motor car—an automobile on rails—is the "hard way."

But that's how William Manson, senior vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, finished the Western leg of an inspection tour of railway lines.

Mr. Manson arrived in Victoria Friday morning to inspect the Princess Kathleen, flagship of the B.C. Coast fleet.

A track motor car is an automobile equipped with flanged steel wheels for operation on railway tracks. Like a regular train, it is equipped with bell, whistle and green lights, and operates on official train orders, arriving and leaving way stations on schedule. The steering wheel of the automobile becomes the brake, and the two white flags flying from the front bumpers show that the car is operating as an "extra train."

Longest single stretch of Mr. Manson's westbound journey was 344 miles between Weyburn, Sask., and Lethbridge, Alta. On the way west his automobile traveled through the famous spiral tunnels near Field in the Canadian Rockies and the five-mile Connaught Tunnel.

The trip west is the first the senior vice-president has made since he was placed in charge of all rail and communications of the company.

Before he returns to Winnipeg, where he began his inspection tour, Mr. Manson will have completed more than 2,000 miles in his automobile on rails.

University School Holds Speech Day Ceremonies

The 41st annual Speech Day was held at University School on Friday, Ven. Archdeacon W. C. Western addressing the visitors and boys and presenting the prizes for the year.

Rev. G. H. Scarrett, B.A., headmaster of the school, welcomed a large gathering of parents and friends, some of whom had come from California, Seattle, Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton. The ceremony was opened by prayer and reading of the Scripture, after which the headmaster reported on the school activities during the year.

He stated that the attendance had been well maintained and that the boys taking the departmental examinations last year had made a good showing.

Mr. Scarrett reported that the activities of the Cadet Corps had been very encouraging, having been favorably commended by the inspecting officer on each occasion when an inspection had been held. Mention was made of the fact that the school team entered in the R.M.C. shooting competition last year had gained first place in the province over all British Columbia schools and also that this year, owing to the lifting of war-time restrictions, recreational shooting had been engaged in and that all participating had won their Marksman Badge and that ten had won the Expert Badge.

Boxing had been resumed during the Spring term and the junior and intermediate boys had made a good showing in the finals. A new record of 19 feet 1 inch had been made in the intermediate broad jump.

Mr. Scarrett welcomed Archdeacon Western, who spoke mainly to the boys, reminding them of the purposes of school life, of the benefits which they had received at University School, of the tasks which lay ahead of them in a wider world and of their duty to put into practice the lessons which they had learned at school.

Col. B. R. Ker, member of the board of governors, thanked the Archdeacon for his address.

The Archdeacon then presented the prizes. Tea was subsequently served in the school dining hall.

Academic prizes were awarded as follows:

Foreign Trade Total Better

OTTAWA, June 21 (CP).—Canada's foreign trade maintained a high level in April, and was 23 per cent higher than in the corresponding month of 1946, the Bureau of Statistics reported.

Aggregate value of imports and exports during the month was $419,000,000, compared with $341,000,000 a year ago. Total value for the first four months of the year was $1,583,000,000, compared to $1,264,300,000 in the same period of 1946.

Merchandise imports in April were valued at $225,600,000, against $208,900,000 in the preceding month, and $160,800,000 in April, 1946. Aggregate value of goods imported during the four months rose to $785,400,000, against $658,000,000 in the same period last year.

Hedley Mascot Lost During Year

VANCOUVER, June 21 (CP).—Hedley Mascot Gold Mines Limited operated at a net loss of $173,808 last year, W. G. MacKenzie said here today. It showed a profit of $46,484 in 1945.

Reasons given for the loss were the five-month miners' strike and unusual labor shortage and the juggling of the value of the Canadian dollar.

General Manager V. J. Creeden said $99,117 of the loss resulted directly from the strike and the shuffling of the currency value.
